VOTE ON TAX REDUCTION BILL NEARS

REPUBLICANS DECLINE TO RECOGNIZE MEASURE

Legislation Is Slashed Out Of All Semblance to Original Plan

By A. O. HAYWARD
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The battle-scarred tax reduction bill, cut and slashed so badly by the Democrats that the Republicans are ready to disclaim any responsibility for the legislation, will be brought to a final vote in the House on Friday, under plans perfected today by the ways and means committee.

Participants in the tax fight had a breathing spell today while Congress honored the memory of the late President Harding.

Hopes For Break

Republican Leader Longworth was still hopeful that a sufficient number of Republican insurgents could be won over to his compromise plan of 37½ maximum surtax, 2 per cent on incomes to $4000 and 6 on incomes of between $4000 and $10,000, to substitute it for the Garner plan which has been written into the bill.

In order to win, Longworth must break into the Wisconsin delegation, led by Representatives Frear and Nelson, and this delegation has stood solidly behind its leaders. There are no indications today of a weakening in its lineup.

To Force Rollcall

Longworth will force rollcall record votes on several provisions of the tax reduction legislation when the bill is placed on passage. The main fight will be over the income tax provisions, especially the maximum surtax. This contest has narrowed down until it is close, but it will not be in doubt unless there is a split in the Wisconsin delegation. The Democratic plan of income tax revision will remain in the bill as it goes to the senate.

Other provisions of the bill added in the house to the measure as it comes from the Republican members of the ways and means committee stand little chance of being defeated. These include the gift tax and inheritance tax increase. The House majorities for ratification of these changes were substantial. Contests over an excess profits tax, a tax-exempt securities income tax and a stock dividend tax cannot be resumed in the house.

Automobile Taxes

Revision of the automobile taxes will be taken up when the House meets tomorrow, with a lively struggle in sight.

Two important provisions of the bill, the creation of a board of tax appeals and a 25 per cent reduction of income taxes for last year payable during the present year, remain to be considered by the house. There is some objection to the board of tax appeals but none to the flat 25 per cent tax cut in the next tax payments.

Farmers Organize to Cut Gasoline Prices

SHELDON, Iowa, Feb. 27.—Farmers of this district are going to build their own gasoline service stations and sell gas at a low price, in order to "beat" the Standard Oil company and other companies.

A large group of farmers met here today and organized a farmers' oil company for the purpose of selling cheap gas. More than $6,000 was subscribed.

Pastor Announces Meeting to Offer Prayer for Rain

Prayers for rain will be offered Thursday night at a meeting at 7:45 o'clock in Bethel chapel at 633 East Colorado street, announces Rev. A. W. Frodsham, pastor.

Following the hour of prayer, Mrs. L. Denney, a returned missionary, will give an account of her experiences in India.

In announcing this prayer meeting Rev. Frodsham states that similar meetings were held recently in Oakland. He says:

"They took as their text Second Chronicles, 7:13-14, 'If I shut up Heaven that there be no rain . . ., if my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.'

"Two other Oakland churches were about to call special prayer meetings for the same purpose, but before they had time to do this the clouds gathered and the rain poured down. After a short interval of fair weather they had another drenching rain, contrary to weather predictions. The hills around Oakland are now as green as velvet."

REVEALS AIMS OF FASCISTI REVOLT

Abolish Treaty, Set Up Rule Of Nationalists, Was Plan of Rebels

MUNICH, Feb. 27.—Dr. Friederich Weber, one of the defendants in the Ludendorff-Hitler treason trial, and leader of the "Oberland' free corps in the Fascisti "army," revealed today that the Nationalists aimed first to abolish the Versailles treaty and second, to establish a Nationalist government if the "beer cellar revolt" of last November had been successful.

Hitler was still upon the witness stand when the trial was continued this morning.

"Did you aspire to the highest position in the Reich (German state)?" asked the prosecutor.

Ludendorff Impassive

Hitler denied any intention of started the revolution."

"There is nothing to smile about," rebuked the prosecutor.

Ludendorff looked on, his heavy face impassive.

Hitler denied any intention of running a "competing dictatorship."

Dr. Von Kahr, former dictator of Bavaria, and the man who wrecked the revolt before it was twelve hours old, is sick and may not testify.

OFFICIAL IS DEAD

ROME, Feb. 27. — Former Minister of State Denava died today.

COMMERCIAL JOB PLANT OF NEWS IS SOLD

D. R. Patterson, C. A. Griffin And Joe Felix Buyers Of Job Plant

That the publisher of The Glendale Evening News may be able to devote all of his time to the newspaper department of the business, he has sold his commercial job printing plant and business.

The purchasers are D. R. Patterson, C. A. Griffin and Joe Felix, all of whom have been employed in this plant.

Mr. Patterson has served in the capacity of foreman and business manager of the job department of The Evening News for the past year.

Mr. Felix has been head pressman with The Evening News for nine years.

Mr. Griffin has been on the editorial staff of the paper for several months and has formed many acquaintances in Glendale.

Possession March 1

The new owners will take possession of the business next Saturday, March 1.

They are all good fellows and the management of The Evening News wishes them unbounded success. They will remain at the present location, 139 South Brand boulevard.

Enlarging Newspaper Plant

The growth, both advertising and circulation, of The Glendale Evening News continues like that of Glendale and it is necessary that the publisher devote all of his time to the newspaper itself. Hence the decision to sell the commercial job printing department to the three employes.

Elaborate additions are being made on The Glendale Evening News home at 139 South Brand, and, too, the big 24-page printing press is expected to arrive soon after the first of March—two carloads of new machinery.

Large Expenditure

The disposal of the job plant serves as an emphasis that renewed effort will be centered in making The Glendale Evening News an even greater daily paper than it is at present. As has been stated in previous issues, more than $40,000 are being spent for the press, stereotyping outfit and other machinery for a first-class metropolitan newspaper plant.

FIREMEN SUBDUE MONTECITO FIRE

Loss Estimated at $100,000 Caused by Flames In National Forest

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 27.—With the strong wind which prevailed all of yesterday and part of last night having almost died down this morning, the 300 men fighting the forest fire in the Santa Barbara national forest reserve, near Montecito, today had about brought the fire under control.

A check of damage this morning showed that property worth over $100,000 had been destroyed. Getting beyond the control of the fire fighters, the fire last night destroyed the La Paz, a well-known mountain resort, and destroyed property on the estate of H. H. Bothin. The flames also swept dangerously close to the estate of Lolita Armour Mitchell, daughter of J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, but the Mitchell home was saved, as well as the Dean school, a fashionable institution, which sons of wealthy eastern families attend.

HELD ON ANCIENT MURDER CHARGES

Suspect Arrested In Oregon Believed Fugitive In Alabama Killing

ROSEBURG, Ore., Feb. 27.—Paul Franklin, Reedsport poolroom proprietor, was brought here by Sheriff Starmer following his arrest as George Meadows, alleged fugitive from justice in Alabama, where Meadows in 1905 was indicted for the murder of William Eaton. Franklin, according to Starmer, admits that his name was formerly Meadows, but claimed he had left Driston, Walker county, Alabama, nineteen years ago, to avoid being a witness in the case. He told the sheriff that he might waive extradition and return, confident he could clear the matter up.

Franklin, now 50 years of age, married here four years ago and has two children. He is said to have accumulated $30,000 or $40,000 since coming to Oregon.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 27.—A beloved parrot, capable of singing popular songs in English and French, has been left $1000 in the will of the late Thomas B. Whitney, ex-hotel man of California and Oregon, who died February 19.

"Since his wife died he retired in grief and lavished all his attention on his parrot," C. W. Kern reported, to whom the money for the care of the bird was left.

"Polly" is 57 years old and is arrayed in fashionable spring colors of green and yellow. The bird has an enormous appetite but refuses to drink water.

SOLEMN TRIBUTE PAID TO HARDING

Secretary Hughes Says Late President Gave Life For His Country

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—"He wore himself out in the endeavor to be friendly. He gave his life to his country. No one can do more than that."

This final tribute to Warren G. Harding, the man and the president, was spoken today by Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, who delivered the only address at the official memorial services for the late president in the hall of the House of Representatives.

While the sounds of partisan strife that have reverberated through Washington in past weeks were stilled, a distinguished audience had gathered in the house to testify to the esteem in which the late president was held and to note their sorrow. Present there on the floor were President Coolidge, his successor, members of the cabinet and members of the supreme court; the diplomatic colony of Washington resplendent in court uniforms; members of congress and a saddened group of relatives and intimate personal friends of Mr. Harding. His widow sat in this group, clad in the sombre black of bereavement.

Daugherty Suddenly Leaves

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, whose resignation has been under discussion at the White House almost continuously now for ten days, suddenly left Washington this afternoon for an unannounced destination. It was learned, however, that the attorney-general left on a western train, and it is believed he is going to either Chicago, where a federal grand jury is now delving into the scandal unearthed about the Veterans' Bureau, or to Columbus, where he makes his home. The attorney-general probably will be in Chicago for several days, it was said, and will go to Florida, where Mrs. Daugherty is ill, before returning to Washington.

Telegrams Between Fall and McLean Made Public by Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Secret messages which passed by telegraph between Washington and Palm Beach, Fla., for E. B. McLean, Washington publisher, and former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, were made public today by the Senate public lands committee after they had been obtained under protest from the telegraph companies.

Before the telegrams were read into the record of the committee's oil lease investigation they were read by members of the committee, to segregate those which had a bearing on the inquiry.

May Call Palmer

As a result of the telegrams Senator Walsh announced this afternoon that A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney-general under Wilson, may be called before the committee. The telegrams revealed that Palmer was engaged in constant efforts to keep McLean off the witness stand and reported to McLean that he "had men working on Walsh."

The messages likewise revealed that Palmer and Colonel J. W. Zevely, one of Harry F. Sinclair's associates, are law partners in Washington, a fact not heretofore generally known.

Arranged Leased Wire

The first message read told of arrangements for installation of a leased wire between Palm Beach and McLean's papers, the Washington Post and the Cincinnati Enquirer. It was sent by John Major, confidential employe of

White House Soon to Give Statement on Attorney General, Belief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The status of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty—his retirement or retention in the cabinet—will be cleared up within twelve hours, it was strongly indicated today following a lengthy conference between President Coolidge and his attorney general at the White House.

Upon leaving the executive mansion at 10:30 o'clock, Daugherty said he thought there would be an announcement either from the White House or the department of justice before nightfall but he steadfastly declined to indicate its nature or when it might be expected.

'Proper and Foolish'

"Have you submitted your resignation to the president?" the attorney general was asked.

"This is a perfectly proper question," he replied, "but it also is a foolish one."

"What do you mean by foolish?" persisted a reporter, "foolish to expect an answer, or foolish to except you to resign?"

Daugherty laughed and declined to answer. He was apparently in good spirits and pleased at the result of his interview with the president.

Today's conference between the president and the attorney general was the second that has taken place since the arrival in Washington of William Butler, President Coolidge's campaign manager.

The attorney general has not

Scout Outing

Troop No. 5, Glendale Girl Scouts, met Sunday afternoon with their captain, Mrs. J. E. Buie, for an outing in the foothills near the old reservoir on the former Thom ranch. After a drill practice directed by H. B. Lockwood, and playing of outdoor games, the girls under the care of Mr. Lockwood, enjoyed a short hike over the hills returning at dusk to the home of the captain, 112½ West Dryden street, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Buie and the troop lieutenant, Miss Dorothy Black.

Appointments made at the last troop meeting were: Troop musician, Beatrice Guenther; scribe, Alice Ayars; flag bearer, Ruth Olson; and treasurer, Doris Stamp. A meeting of the captain and patrol leaders will be held this week at the Colorado street bungalow, and plans will be made for the next rally of the girl scouts.

This troop is making a remarkable record, having filled the ranks complete in an incredibly short time. By meeting weekly they have completed the details connected with organizing and are now out to break another record in passing tenderfoot tests, which will set a standard that other new troops will find hard to meet.

E. F. Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church of Los Angeles. There were about fifteen relatives and friends present.

The Green residence was attractively decorated for the occasion with a profusion of pink and white sweetpeas and greenery.

EXTRA WORK FOR CAST OF 'ELIJAH'

Conductor Smallman Wants To Perfect Singers In Oratorio Parts

John Smallman led a group of over fifty singers last night at the rehearsal of the oratorio section of the Glendale Music club at the Harvard High school, preparing for the presentation Tuesday night, March 25, of Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Interpretation is what Mr. Smallman is stressing now, and in order to perfect the oratorio for presentation, extra rehearsals are to be held every Saturday night during the coming weeks.

It was with much enthusiasm that Mr. Smallman announced the artists who will sing the solo parts. Monnie Hastings, soprano, who appeared recently in a prominent part in "Quo Vadis," given by the Los Angeles Oratorio society, will sing the soprano solos; Florence Middaugh, well known to Glendale music lovers, the contralto parts; Harold Proctor, the tenor solos, and Fred McPherson the part of "Elijah." Assisting will be selected pieces of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra.

A special stage is to be built in the auditorium of the Broadway High school to accommodate the chorus of 150 singers.

Tickets Selling Fast

Already there is a great demand for tickets, states Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president. The approximate cost of the production will be $800 and there will be 400 patron tickets at $2 each to provide this necessary amount. All over the $800 will go to the Music club treasury.

A prize is to be given to the group of singers selling the most patron tickets. At present the alto group is in the lead, Miss Myrtle Baldwin purchasing ten patron tickets and Mrs. Frank Arnold selling twenty-one.

Guild Will Meet

Mrs. W. J. Farber, president of St. Mark's guild, will preside at the regular weekly meeting at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Guild hall.

GLENDALE'S SONG GREETS VISITORS

Rousing Welcome to Guests At 'Sing' by Hollywood Community Chorus

A greeting song to "Glendale, the Valley's Pride," welcomed the Glendale delegation of the Choral club to the community "sing" last night in Hollywood. The affair was held at the Hollywood High school, with 100 Glendalians attending.

Special seats were reserved for the Glendale folks and Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood community chorus; Hugo Kirchhofer, leader of the chorus, and all the members accorded Glendale a rousing welcome to the neighbor city.

Hollywood had furnished a program for Glendale not so many months ago and the Glendale program in Hollywood last night was a return courtesy, and proved to be greatly enjoyed by both hosts and guests.

Sing Glendale Song

"To Our Neighbor" was the title of the greeting song written by Mrs. Maud D. Lee Skeen and sung to the air of "Over the Summer Sea," when the Glendale delegation arrived. The words of the song are:

"Glendale, the Valley's Pride,
Our gates are open wide;
Come join our merry throng,
Gaily we'll roll along.
Our hearts we pledge to thee
To ever faithful be;
Come lift your glasses high
And bid dull care go by.
Glendale, our neighbor,
Our lovely neighbor,
Welcome, thrice welcome,
We welcome thee!"

J. Arthur Myers, leader of the Glendale Choral club, announced the program, in which the following took part: Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah, Dr. Joseph Marple, the Glendale trio and Choral club.

Mrs. J. J. Carter and Mr. Kirchhofer gave addresses of welcome and there were responses by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. Ella Richardson, V. M. Hollister, A. L. Baird, R. E. Tucker and J. Arthur Myers.

RECEIVES CHARTER

The charter of the Glendale Humane Society has arrived and Edwin Kulp, president, announces an important meeting for Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the city hall. It is hoped that some of the state officers, who are attending the convention in Pasadena, can be present and talk on the possibilities of a humane organization in Glendale.

PATRIOTIC NOTE IN P.-T. PROGRAM

Montrose Mothers Will Be Hostesses to Members At Thursday Meet

On Thursday afternoon, February 28, the Parent-Teacher asscoiation will hold a Montrose Day program, when the Montrose mothers will be hostesses to the P.-T. A. members of La Crescenta and Montrose. A splendid patriotic program has been arranged by these mothers, who have worked unstintingly, not only to present an interesting meeting, but also to costume the children taking part. The program, which is to be held at 2:45 o'clock, will be as follows:

I
Scenes from life of Washington, in tableaux
II
Minuet song
Introduction to minuet
III
Minuet
Patriotic songs—Flag salute

A patriotic address of great interest will be given by Ex-Senator Howard of Alabama, at present a resident of Montrose.

Mrs. Swain of Sparr Heights is chairman of the program and entertainment committee and has worked hard with the other mothers to present this program, and with all the Montrose mothers, Mrs. Swain will appreciate a full attendance of Parent-Teacher association members.

The community sing will be held at Montrose schoolhouse this week on Thursday night at 8 o'clock. A splendid program is promised those attending the sing, as Director Prosper will sing some solos which he will carry out in a dramatized version. As a concluding number Mr. Prosper will sing an aria from the famous opera, "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Prize Is Offered

Manager Hopkins requests of everyone who has a suitable name for the community sing contest that they bring the name written on a folded slip of paper. The contest rules are: The name must not be Verdugo City, La Crescenta or Montrose, but may be a composite name of portions of all three words, or something entirely different, provided it will be applicable to our valley community sing. Five dollars is the reward offered as the incentive for the right name.

On Thursday of this week Mrs. Fred Anderson of Montrose will entertain members and friends of the La Crescenta Woman's club at a silver tea. Mrs. Anderson will be at home from 3 to 5 o'clock, and extends a cordial invitation to all interested members and friends to be her guests. The proceeds fo the silver tea will be turned over to the building fund of the Woman's club.

Mrs. Hoffman of West Piedmont avenue has on exhibition six fine thoroughbred collie pups. They were sired by Sultan Lad, a famous collie, while the mother is out of the finest strains of Bruce, McDougal and Rob Roy dog clans there are. Mrs. Hoffman will be pleased to show the pups to all dog lovers who care to call at her residence, which is the first house west of the rock store on West Piedmont avenue off Los Angeles.

Little Buddie Kennedy is home from the hospital and while he is able to run about, still has not regained the use of his badly crippled hands. Buddy has been very ill from a severe case of inflammatory rheumatism, but is a pretty plucky chap over it, winning many friends among the nurses of the Glendale Research hospital, where he was being treatde by Dr. Young.

Present Comedy Skit

Next week the comedy skit, "Si Slocum's Country Store," will be put on at the school auditorium. Two nights will be devoted to the play, as the auditorium only seats 400 people and the management does not wish any of the spectators to stand. The performance will be given March 7 and 8, Friday and Saturday. Many specialties will also be presented. Miss Marie Walsh of the Emerson School of Self-Expression has trained the cast, composed of local talent.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, as chairman of the program committee of the La Crescenta Woman's club, has secured the consent of Swami Paramananda, Hindu philosopher, poet, teacher of Ananda Ashroma, to speak on "Great Indian Culture." As the swami is a native of India he will be thoroughly conversant with his subject. He also is a graduate of Oxford university, England, and has given many years to the study of public speaking, therefore it is a certainty he will prove an interesting talker. Mrs. Toll is also expected to be present at the next club meeting, which will be on March 12.

Fire Chiefs Young and Mead have posted notices to the effect that anyone desiring to burn brush, rubbish, etc., must have a permit. Also anyone burning stuff after 11 a. m. will be liable to a fine, while the person allowing a fire to get beyond bounds is liable to a very heavy fine and punishment, as the fire hazard is so great at present.

Fire Chief Young put out a brush fire on West Honolulu avenue the other morning, caused, apparently, by a cigarette being thrown into the underbrush, which has occurred frequently at this point lately.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow addressed the members of Monte Vista club in Sunland on Tuesday. Her subject was "Co-operative Club Funds and How to Raise Them."

POSTPONE ACTION ON MERGER PLAN

Board of Education Awaits Supt. White's Return From Convention

Due to the absence from the city of Richardson D. White, city superintendent, who is attending a convention of educators in Chicago, no definite action was taken by the city Board of Education last night on the communication received from the High school Board of Trustees regarding the formation of a Junior High school district or the consolidation of the two boards.

The letter from the High school board, and copies of the correspondence that passed between Principal George U. Moyse and the County Counsel were read, but action was deferred until Mr. White's return.

A telegram from Mr. White was read in which he stated that the gathering in Chicago was a great success, there being twelve thousand in attendance. He stated that he expected to return to Glendale about March 6.

Urge Safety Plans

A committee from the Acacia Avenue Fathers' association, headed by A. E. Bryan, addressed the board on the matter of safety for the children. It was their suggestion that the older boys be detailed to look after the youngsters while going to and from school. Inasmuch as the City Council had already taken steps to provide safety zones the matter was taken under advisement by the board.

PASTOR RELATES HIS CONVERSION

Evangelist Kerr Tells How His Life Was Turned To God's Service

Rev. J. McD. Kerr was the speaker at the evangelistic service conducted last night at the First Methodist church. He told in an interesting manner the story of his life to an unusually large congregation. He related his spiritual experiences telling how in the first place his mother, a very devoted Christian, had dedicated him as a young child to be a minister for Christ. When a young man the Lord called him to definite Christian work. One day a copy of D. L. Moody's sermons published in the Montreal Witness came into his hands and after reading it he determined to become a Christian, for that reason said he, "I place a great value on the printed page and at this time I wish to publicly thank the Glendale papers for their generous reports of our services."

Following his clear conversion, he received the baptism of the Holy Spirit and was led from preaching in private homes and schoolhouses to some of the largest churches in Canada. As an evangelist he has labored in many different states of this country and from here the Kerr brothers will go to Rialto for a series of meetings. The evangelistic services will continue this week including next Sunday, when the final revival service will be held.

The sermon tonight will be delivered on the subject, "Accountability." This, in a measure, will be young people's night. The young men of the Baraca class will furnish the music for the evening. A large delegation of the Mystic Smilers and members of both Philathea and Baraca classes will be present in a body. A cordial invitation is extended to all young people of Glendale to attend this unusual service tonight.

EMPLOYMENT FEE MAY BE BOOSTED

Present Law Is Declared by Supreme Court to Be Unconstitutional

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—A sharp revision upward of employment agency fees throughout the state was expected today to follow the decision of the state supreme court that the law passed by the last Legislature regulating such fees is unconstitutional.

The act restricted the fees of the agency in so-called "white collar" jobs, stenographers, clerks and other professional help to ten per cent of the first month's pay. The court held in the cases of H. B. Smith and E. C. Boynton of Los Angeles that the law interfered with the property rights of the agencies.

Money, Overcoat and Other Articles Stolen

A. N. Jamgoction, 1905 South San Fernando road, reported to the police last night at 7 o'clock that his home had been entered early Tuesday morning.

On investigation Detective Sergeant Blake and Officer Claxton found that two $5 bills and an overcoat, with several other smaller articles, were missing. Entrance was gained by prying loose the back door.

EAGLE ROCK

LIBRARY OFFERS WIDE EDUCATION

Books on Many Topics Give Opportunity to Study Varied Courses

A liberal education, and one absolutely without cost to the student, stands waiting for everyone who will make use of a public library, says Mrs. Bianche A. Gardiner, librarian of the local branch of the Los Angeles Public Library, located on Colorado boulevard.

Many useful books are available on specific subjects, she states. Take, for instance, the subject of children. It is a broad one and many books on its various angles will be found at the Eagle Rock branch library, among them "Everyday Problems in Child Training," by O'Shea; "A Montessori Mother," by Fisher; "A Schoolmaster of the Great City," by Patri; "How to Tell Stories to Children," by Bryant; "Foods and Household Management," by Kinne and Cooley; "The Century of the Child," by Ellen Key; "All the Children of the World," Key; "Talks to Mothers," Angela Patri; "Profitable Vocations for Boys" and "Profitable Vocations for Girls," by Weaver and Byler.

Many books on diet are also available at the local branch, among them "How to Live," by Fisher and Fisk; "Eat and Grow Thin," by Vance Thompson; "Diet and Health," by Lulu Hunt Peters, A.B., M.D.; "Feeding the Family," by Mary Swartz Rose, Ph.D.

The library also has government pamphlets on a multitude of subjects, states Mrs. Gardiner, and indexes to current periodicals will reveal still other sources of specific information along innumerable lines.

"Let anyone who wishes to improve his or her education select the subjects for study," says Mrs. Gardiner, "then come to the library and take a consistent course of reading along lines pertaining to those subjects. A college can teach no more."

A certain gang of the "young idea" that has been organizing of nights in the vicinity of Mrs. Bishop's garage, 1507 Glen Arbor avenue, would do well to organize elsewhere, and would do better still to organize not at all, for the police have been notified of the disturbance and are no doubt ready to hale the youthful offenders to headquarters, should they chance to lay hands on them.

Three other "reg'lar fellers" were recently haled before the local police. The charge was appropriating a blacksmith's anvil from a grading camp in Glendale. The trio were booked before the Lincoln Heights police bench on a charge of petty larceny.

They were driving a small coupe with the license number 593-892, which the police believe to be a stolen car, as the number does not correspond with the number on the certificate. The boys gave their names as R. L. Freeman, 19; Carl Anderson, 21, and C. G. Bills, 19.

High School Pupils Entertain on Radio

Talented pupils of the music and dramatic departments of the Glendale Union High school entertained last night from the KFI radio broadcasting station in Los Angeles. The affair was arranged by the Public School Music association and Glendale pupils and instructors are being complimented on the program given.

Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department at the high school, presented the school orchestra in selections, Mrs. Charles A. Parker, vocal instructor, led the girls' and boys' glee clubs in ensemble numbers and Ruth Jarrett, a pupil of Harold L. Brewster, dramatic teacher, gave readings.

Willard Will Referee Athletic Club's Bouts

Ex-Champ Offers Aid To Help Ambitious Leather Pushers

Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion of the world, conqueror of Jack Johnson, will be officially welcomed to Glendale next Thursday night as a feature of the program of bouts arranged by the Glendale Athletic club at 327 North Brand boulevard.

The big fellow, who has a beautiful home in the Verdugo Woodlands, has promised his active cooperation in the local fights, and will be on hand to referee in the first show staged by the Athletic club since before the holidays.

He will be presented with a life membership to the club, and welcomed as a Glendalian by Mayor Spencer Robinson, and several other local men have been asked to be present and make short speeches. Willard has retired from the ring and does not expect ever to don the gloves again, but stated to President Leavitt of the club that he expected to become an active member of the organization and assist, if possible, in turning out some good boys developed in the local ring.

Willard, who, especially during his comeback staged over a year ago, amassed his share of this world's goods, is not actuated in appearing by mercenary motives, as he is comfortably fixed. He has appeared at no events of this nature in Los Angeles, and is only turning out at Glendale to help the local club get off on the right foot after rather a disastrous series of fights just before Christmas.

Heavyweight Bout

A card worthy of the appearance of a heavyweight champion has been arranged by Matchmaker Pete Essick for "Willard Night." In the wind-up he has Eddie Byrd and Tommy Richards, heavyweights, in the first heavyweight attraction billed in Glendale this winter. In their previous meeting Richards received a hairline verdict over the local boy and will have to extend himself to repeat the performance here.

Of equal interest should be the semi-windup, when Art Springer of Vernon meets Cecil Taylor of Burbank. Both of these boys have fought here in Glendale and have a good assortment of stuff. This battle between these 116-pound boys should be a hummer.

Bud Forester and Ted Rose; Jimmy Racer and Nick Carpen; and Eddie Kelly and Harry Wallace round out the evening's menu, which ought to tickle the palate of local fans who have been hungry for a show of this kind for over three months.

SPORTS PROGRAM PLANS OUTLINED

Community Service Athletic Committee Chairman Submits Report

Through its athletic committee, Community Service of Glendale expects to take a prominent part in local sporting circles, says Albert G. Cornwell, chairman.

The work has been divided so that each department will be properly looked after. George E. Farmer, cashier of the Glendale State Bank, will have charge of tennis; Norma Hayhurst, athletic director of the Glendale Union High school, of baseball this summer, football and basketball next fall and winter, and Mr. Cornwell will take charge of the golf.

Mr. Farmer plans to get in touch with tennis players of the city, both men and women, with a view to arranging a tournament this summer with the city championship at stake. Although there are many club and individual courts, there has been no cooperation in this direction heretofore, and the proposition will be welcomed by local players.

Twilight League

Special attention will be given to twilight baseball this summer, and Coach Hayhurst hopes to have many good games between local organizations, although his plans are not far enough along as yet to make public.

The golf, under the personal supervision of Mr. Cornwell, offers a field for real service, he says. All local golfers are asked to hand in their names and the hours they are at liberty to play to either the chairman at Cornwell & Kelty's or to Mr. Tucker at Community Service headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce. This list will be open at all times, so that anyone having an afternoon off and desiring a game of golf may call up either place and find out who is at liberty to play. This will be of real assistance, he says, to newcomers from the east who enjoy a game of golf but do not know where to find anyone to play with. The Community Service will not secure to opponents, but the list, which is rapidly growing, will be open for inspection at all times.

Get 'Em Up

Art Springer, clever Vernon 116-pounder who meets Cecil Taylor of Burbank in the semi-windup of the Glendale Athletic Club's show next Thursday night.

Southern Branch and Whittier to Contest

Trying to go through the entire basketball season without losing a conference game, the stellar quintet of the University of California, Southern Branch, journeys to Whittier tonight to toss baskets with the much heralded Poet aggregation. Having won seven games out of seven, a victory for the Southern Branch means winning the conference basketball championship for the fourth consecutive year.

Adding local interest to the game is the fact that Bill Goertz and Wilbur Johns, shining stars for the Cub hoopsters, are graduates from Glendale High school. The former still lives in Glendale while the latter hails from Eagle Rock. Throughout the entire season these two men have been a most deciding factor in keeping the Southern Branch at the top of the ladder.

Art Griggs, veteran slugging first baseman of the Angels, will manage the Omaha club of the Western league this year. That is, waivers have been asked on him by President Patrick and there is no chance that any owner will stand in his way when he has a chance to better himself.

Angel fans, while wishing him luck in his managerial venture, will miss him at the initial sack at Washington park.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, who is entitled to his own niche in the hall of pitching fame along with Matthewson, Waddell, Walsh, Johnson and others, celebrated his thirty-seventh birthday yesterday at the Cub training camp at Catalina island.

Far beyond the age when most players, especially pitchers, have faded out of the baseball picture, he is still counted on as the mainstay of the Chicago Nationals, and expects to have a great season. Purchased at the then enormous price of $50,000 from Philadelphia, he has been the pitching ace of the Cubs for several years. He is a good clean living fellow, of decent habits, and is popular alike with fans, players and umpires.

So great had his fame become last year, and the year previous, for winning games, that it was found necessary to switch his pitching dates, as the sure-thing gamblers were always "down" when Alec's turn to work came around. In order to circumvent these gentlemen, he often worked every third day, or would have an extra day on the bench.

Waite Hoyt, who was reported traded a dozen times this last winter, is once more on the Yankee payroll and is now in Hot Springs, Ark., for a preliminary boiling out. He was accompanied on his sojourn from New York by "Bullet" Joe Bush.

Herb Pennock, regarded by many as the best southpaw in the American league, and the first real left-hander the Yanks have had in years, is having differences with Col. Ruppert over the figure inserted in the salary clause of his contract. He claims that if he cannot come to terms he will retire to his fox farm in Canada for the summer.

Other Yankee holdouts include Ward, Dugan, Jones, Pipp, Meusel and Witt. Ruth has a holdover contract and will soon leave his Connecticut farm for the south.

Gordon Slade, who held down the shortstop position for the Glendale White Sox all winter, is going to have a tough time of it making the Vernon payroll this summer, it seems. With twenty-nine pastimers out on the first day of practice, competition will be right keen to land a place on Eddie Maier's payroll.

Gordon is an A No. 1 infielder, and plays his position well, but his hitting has not been heavy enough to assure him a place in the Coast league, although the Tigers did finish in the cellar last year.

He is a likeable boy, and local fans will wish him luck in his efforts to break into fast company.

On Thursday of this week the Angels, twenty-two strong, depart for Long Beach to limber up under the watchful eye of Marty Krug and Oscar Reichow.

Just who the holdouts are it is not the policy of the Angels to announce, but they do say that any man whose John Henry is not on the dotted line will not shove his feet under the table at the club's expense. The cost of getting a ball player ready for the summer campaign has been set at $700 by some authorities, so it's no wonder that the dinner bell will be muffled by the Angel boss.

Los Angeles fans are clamoring for a winning team this year and President Patrick and associates are endeavoring to satisfy their craving.

SELL ED BARNEY

SEATTLE, Feb. 27.—Ed Barney, pinch hitter and outfielder for the Seattle Coast league baseball club, has been sold to the Shreveport club of the Texas league, it was made known here yesterday. Barney came to Seattle from the Buffalo club of the International league with a good reputation as a hitter, but a bad knee handicapped him so that he was used only as a pinch hitter and utility outfielder.

CUBAN CATCHER SOLD

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 27.—The St. Paul club in the American association yesterday announced the sale of Mike Gonzales, Cuban backstop, rated as the best catcher in the league, to Cincinnati for cash, and the sale of Charles Dressen, fast third sacker, to Cincinnati for players and cash.

RHYNE ONLY HOLDOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Gene Valla, Seal outfielder, departed for the Boyes Springs traing camp yesterday, after signing his 1924 contract. His signature leaves Hal Rhyne as the only Seal holdout.

Northern gales driving arctic ice down into areas before untouched, have caused the death of such great numbers of fish that one ship reported having sailed through 150 miles of lifeless floaters.

TERRIBLE TIGERS TOYING RECRUITS

Candidates for Positions on Team Showing Their Stuff In Practice

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff.

Spring is definitely in our midst. Newly washed baseball uniforms are blossoming out on every diamond in the country and Charley horses are browsing among the fields of green athletes, quaffing Loan's liniment and witch hazel in large gulps. Hotel dining rooms double the staff of cooks and waiters, and the grocery man rejoices. Yep, spring has come!

At Washington park, Los Angeles, the Terrible Tigers have started training. The nickname of Terrible was given the Vernon Tigers one year when they waded through everything in sight and won the pennant. The name proved a boomerang last year when the Tigers finished three weeks after the season had closed. They certainly lived up to the name. Terrible? Ask Spark McCluskey, he knows.

Few of the 1923 Tigers will show their claws in the Pacific Coast league this year. Some have gone up to the big show to better money and maybe more fame. Others have slipped one notch lower on baseball's ladder and gone to lesser leagues. Fame is fleeting and these will soon be forgotten by the fickle fans.

Bodie Is Waived

Ping Bodie, that once great slugger who shone with the Detroit Tigers when in his prime, has been waived in favor of younger talent. Sawyer, the clown and one of the best drawing cards the Coast league ever had, has been sold to Wichita, but may not go there as he likes California. Sawyer has a lot of baseball left in him yet and, aside from this, is a magnet that draws many a six-bit piece to the box office. One wonders at the wisdom of parting with his services.

Jakie May, southpaw pitcher, goes up to Cincinnati after considerable dickering. Wheezer Dell, the mainstay of the pennant-winning Tigers in 1920, will be among those absent. James Alten, Ham Hyatt, Locker and Rader have also been disposed of.

Compete for Berths

Among those to try for berths with Vernon this year who were with the team last year are: Chadbourne, Schneider and Blenkiron, the high school recruit. They will compete with Mike Menosky, who comes from the Boston Red Sox, Gillespie and Bernard for outfield jobs.

A new stable of pitchers is to be paraded for the fans' approval, if any. Cecil Cruze of San Fernando fame in the Southern California Baseball Managers' Association, Keough, also recruited from local sand lots, and Mike File, another semi-pro pitcher with a rep, will try to hold jobs with Penner, who comes to Vernon from Sacramento, Keck from the Cincy Reds, Sellers, Gilder, Carson, Christian, Shellenback, Brumfield and some others of more or less ability.

Truck Hannah, the delicate catcher who weighs just a trifle less than a taxicab, will probably get the call as regular catcher. With him will be Denny Murphy, Whitney and Zanic.

Charlie Deal's recent indignation over being traded to Vernon having subsided somewhat, he will play third base. Across from him at first will be Red Murphy, the Swede, or McDowell, the Yiddisher, or both, if necessary. Second base has three candidates, Walter Kimmick, Morgan and Griffin, with Kimmick a slight favorite. Jackie Warner and Slade will compete for the short field. They look like a toss-up.

Predict Improvement

These and a few more will be out there perspiring freely and wondering if they will stay on the payroll when Mayor Cryer pitches the first ball April 8. Vinegar Bill Essick, the Sage of Grand Ridge, will thumb some of them off the lot as that date nears and somebody will have to earn pork chops elsewhere. One thing is sure, no matter what happens to the "Terrible" Tigers this year, it will be an improvement on last year.

Bears Beat Stanford In Final 5 Minutes

Staging a sensational comeback in the last five minutes of play, California last night defeated Stanford 26 to 23 at Oakland and earned the right to meet the winners of the northern half of the conference for the Pacific coast basketball championship.

The Cardinals led at half time, 12-9. Five minutes before the end of the game the score was tied, 19-19, but the Bears swept the Cardinals before them at the finish and are once more boasting a championship team. The play was very rough, four players being put out of the game for personal fouls. The line-up:

CALIFORNIA 26		STANFORD 23
Talt (C)	F	McHose (C)
Leadar	F	Nevers
Heuvenin	C	Moody
Kincaid	G	McBurney
Kite	G	Shipkey

Scoring—Stanford: field goals; Nevers, 1; McHose, 1; Moody 1; McBurney, 2. Converted fouls—Nevers, 6; Moody, 3; McBurney, 2; Shipkey, 1; Steffen (substituting for McHose), 1.

California—Field goals: Talt, 5; Huevenin, 1; Holmes (substituting for Leadar), 1; Belasco (substituting for Kincaid),1. Converted fouls Talt, 5; Kincaid, 2; Kite, 1; Holmes 1; Belasco, 1.

BURBANK

FIREMEN TO GET MORE APPARATUS

Manufacturers' Request for Better Equipment Is Approved by City

The Burbank fire department is soon to have additional apparatus, it was disclosed at the last meeting of the manufacturers' division of the Chamber of Commerce, when a letter to this effect was read, coming from the Board of Trustees and assuring the manufacturers that their request is to be carried out.

A letter was also read from the city clerk, thanking the manufacturers for the interest they have taken in the matter of sewers and assuring them that all possible haste is being made in this direction.

The manufacturers' division adjourned satisfied that the city officials are doing everything in their power to push these two important matters.

Coolidge Banquet

The banquet given Monday night at the Methodist church by the supporters of President Calvin Coolidge for re-election proved to be a rousing affair, with Louis G. Guernsey, noted Los Angeles orator, as the principal speaker.

Many women as well as men were present at the banquet, which was in charge of Walter C. Fisher. A musical program added to the festivities. Several hundred were present.

Ernest Feitz gave a vocal recital yesterday afternoon at the Women's clubhouse, on the occasion of the regular Tuesday meeting. It was an afternoon of American composers, and the biography of each who appeared on the program was given, adding much to the educational value of the occasion.

New Baptist Minister

The leadership of the First Baptist church of Burbank is now in the hands of Rev. Perry L. Mitchell, former pastor of the Trinity Baptist church of Los Angeles, and a graduate of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary of Louisville, Ky.

During the war Rev. Mitchell saw service on one of the three transports torpedoed, serving on the U. S. naval transport Covington, sunk by a German submarine.

Rev. Mitchell, his wife and their two children are at present living in Glendale. As soon as a parsonage is built by the local church they will remove to this city.

On Friday night of this week, February 29, a reception for the new pastor will be held at the church, the committee in charge comprising Mrs. C. F. Fitzsimons, Mrs. C. A. Newell and Mrs. J. Hutcherson.

High School Squad May Cop League Flag

Practically cinching the Central league pennant, the Glendale Union High school class B basketball team easily defeated the South Pasadena squad yesterday afternoon, 15 to 11, on the Pasadena High floor. Although the first half ended 5 to 4 in favor of the locals, they were never really in danger and only poor shooting kept the score down to fifteen points.

Lovell and Muff played the best games. The former passed almost the whole game, which accounted for the fact that he only got one basket. Muff at running guard kept the Tiger forwards sweating to get their few markers. Beman was high point man and capably justified his promotion to Stearman's regular position. Alvord and Neel also showed up well.

The league championship will probably be settled this Friday, when the Red and Black quintet takes on the Alhambra babes. Although the locals triumphed over the Moors in a previous game, it was only by two points. Whether the baby Dynamiters can repeat their performance is uncertain, but they are going good and look like a million. The court has not yet been decided upon, although the Pasadena Y. M. C. A. floor is being considered quite strongly.

The line-ups for Yesterday's fracas: Glendale—Lovell (2) and Beman (9), forwards; Neel (4), center; Muff and Alvord, guards. Substitutions—Stearman for Beman, Heideman for Alvord, Beman for Stearman.

South Jasadena—Fugit (2) and Mullins, forwards; Sheffield (8), center; Rentcher and Laidlow (1), guards. Substitutions—Cain for Fugit, Blazer for Mullins, Laner for Sheffield, Kebow for Rentcher, O'Connell for Laidlow, Sheffield for Laner.

Juniors Get Together At Big Class Dinner

The Occidental college annual junior class banquet will be held tonight at the University club. It is the big get-together of the year for the class of '25, says Herbert Sutton, president of the class. President R. D. Bird and James Foley are to enlighten the affair with after-dinner speeches. Dr. Bird is class father of the juniors. James Foley, humorist-philosopher, is to deliver the main address of the occasion. Miss Margaret Crawford, vice-president of the junior class, is in charge of arrangements.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

A major operation was performed this morning on Mrs. M. O. Potter of 355 West Burchett street, at the Glendale Research Hospital.

SUNLAND

REGRET SIGNING MERGER PETITION

Sunland Residents Inclined To Oppose Plans for Incorporation

The first flush of incorporation enthusiasm having subsided somewhat, there is a strong tendency on the part of many Sunland residents to develop what is technically designated as "frigid pedal teguments." Anti-incorporation sentiment was in the ascendant at the last meeting of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce, garnished with the wish that the Sunland names had not been affixed to the recently circulated incorporation petition. The chamber did not go on record for or "forninst," but an unofficial poll of those present revealed a decided "forninst" sentiment.

The frigidity in the region of the pedal extremities is caused partly by a suspicion that the Sunland faction would be outvoted by the larger population of Tujunga on community questions that would come up in the event the two communities were incorporated into a city of the sixth class. The idea of one city, formed by the two communities, with one goal and common interests, has not yet been entirely grasped by all interested parties, and an old current of rivalry still runs through the stream of progress that is bringing the two communities together.

Plans Are Modified

The street lighting district plans have been modified to include a smaller area than was at first proposed. The first plan called for lights in all unlighted territory and along the highway running through Sunland to the Tujunga wash on the western outskirts of Sunland. This was vigorously opposed by several property owners and the plan was abandoned in favor of a smaller territory. A. Adams has been appointed chairman of the road and light committee.

Messrs. Campbell, Stevens and Brown have been appointed a committee to arrange the annual St. Patrick's day entertainment that is given by the Chamber of Commerce. The next meeting of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce will be held March 3, at which an outline of the work planned for the next four months will be given.

Church Is Started

Preliminary work, including excavation and foundation laying, has been done for the new Sunland Baptist church, which will be 53 by 55 feet. W. W. Hunt, representative of the Baptist convention, has charge of the work. Rev. W. E. Smith doffed his ministerial garb in favor of overalls and took charge of the business end of a two-horse scraper during the excavating. The church will cost $20,000 when completed.

Wakefield's grocery at Valley Center and Wertz' grocery at Sunland have taken sales agencies for Comalt, a soft drink manufactured in Glendale. They report gratifying sales of this commodity.

G. & M. Gets Time to Finish Overhead Work

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The Glendale and Montrose Railway has been granted an extension of time until June 1, 1924, to eliminate infractions of the statues governing overhead electric line construction, the railroad commission agreed yesterday afternoon here.

Preston L. Hatch, general manager of the Glendale and Montrose lines here states that his company is complying with General Order 64 regarding overhead installation and the work was to have been completed March 1. Seeing that it was impossible, he asked for the three months' extension, which was granted, according to the foregoing.

Local Goods Boosted By Jolly Bachelors

A big boost for Glendale products was given last Saturday night at the Jolly Bachelors' dance in the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway, and the affair proved to be such a success that patrons of the Jolly Bachelors' dances are told to watch for announcement of a similar affair in the near future.

E. H. Donaldson, Mrs. Anna B. Donaldson and Jack Burgess, hosts at the dances, are loyal Glendalians, and desiring to urge Glendalians to buy Glendale products, they accepted the offer of a group of Glendale merchants to serve a lunch on Saturday night.

The banquet room was attractively arranged with special tables for the different products, which were daintily served, with attractive cards as to place of manufacture and sale. Dance music was furnished by Kelly's six-piece Shrine club orchestra.

The dance this Saturday night will be a balloon and carnival dance. So popular have these Jolly Bachelors' affairs proven that they are to be held on Wednesday nights also, beginning March 12.

Glee Club Will Sing At Optimist Banquet

The Occidental College Men's Glee club will have the privilege of singing at the Optimist club banquet, to be held at the Biltmore hotel Thursday. During the season the Oxy singers give concerts at all the surrounding prep schools, Y. M. C. A.'s, churches and other organizations. They take a trip to San Diego and vicinity, short trips in and around Southern California. The club will sing at Santa Ana High school Friday morning. In the afternoon another concert will be presented at Anaheim. In the evening of April 25, which is the annual Founders' Day at Occidental college, the club will present their home concert.

Oxy Sporting Editor Resigns His Position

Ernest Giffen, sport editor of the Occidental college newspaper, has resigned. He is a senior and as time is nearing for graduation, it will be necessary for him to give up the job. However, Giffen will remain on the staff as the subscription and circulation manager. He has been performing the duties of the two offices in the absence of Franklin Cummings, the sport editor last year, who has been on a leave of absence for a semester. Cummings is back in college this term and has already taken over the sporting department. While away from Oxy, he has been the night editor of the Visalia Delta of Visalia, California.

Six More Counties in Quarantined District

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Six additional counties in California—Napa, Sonoma, Marin, San Mateo, Santa Clara and San Joaquin—have been placed under quarantine as a result of the spread of the dreaded hoof and mouth disease, the department of agriculture announced late yesterday.

DAUGHERTY SOON TO QUIT, BELIEF

Attorney General In Long Conference With Coolidge Over Situation

placed his resignation in President Coolidge's hands, it was officially stated at the White House at 1:45 p. m. in response to rumors and reports that Daugherty had carried his resignation to the White House with him this morning.

Another Meeting

The attorney-general and President Coolidge were in conference shortly before 3 o'clock. It lasted about fifteen minutes, and, as formerly, the president saw him not in his office, but in his study at the mansion.

Republican senators who have been advising President Coolidge to oust the attorney-general, said this afternoon they "understood" that Mr. Daugherty would resign at the conclusion of the senate's investigation of his administration of the department of justice, irrespective of the outcome of that investigation.

No effort was made anywhere in White House circles to deny the fact that the president had crossed the Rubicon on the question that has been before him several days.

Seeks Fair Play

Since the Senate Republicans presented their ultimatum that the attorney general get out and convention delegates who owe their status to the former campaign manager for Harding, demanded that he be retained, the president has been unable to reach a decision.

The president has also held steadfastly to his statement that he would not place the stigma on a man of removing him without a hearing. One reason why action has not been taken sooner, it was learned, is that the president did not believe that the attorney general was getting a fair deal.

At all times, it was stated, the attorney general has been willing to retire, but has insisted that the president make a request and promise a hearing, so that he may be vindicated or convicted.

The president has promised to give Daugherty every opportunity to clear himself, but has reached the definite decision that he does not wish to go into the coming campaign with the political encumbrance of Daugherty's tenure in office, it was stated on high authority.

Between Crossfires

Throughout the last forty-eight hours Daugherty stood between a crossfire—the Republicans in the Senate and his colleagues in the cabinet who have advised him to eliminate himself.

On the best of authority it is learned that he has put his case in this definite statement to the president:

"If you ask me to, I will resign.

"If my presence in the cabinet embarrasses you I will resign.

"But I do not intend to be sacrificed. The request must come and with the assurance that I will be given every opportunity to vindicate myself."

Zbyszko Fans Claim Lewis' Tactics Unfair

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Stanislaus Zbyszko followers were indignant today over what they claimed were unfair tactics in Strangler Lewis' defense of his title against the veteran last night. The mat champion won with two headlocks in 24 minutes and 45 seconds, and eleven minutes flat, with Zbyszko taking one fall between with an arm scissors in seven minutes, thirty seconds.

REVEAL SECRET 'OIL' TELEGRAMS

Leased Wire Installed for Benefit of McLean, It Is Believed

McLean, and declared the wire would keep McLean "in touch with the congressional situation and provide easy and quick access to the White House."

"Saw party at Wardman Park hotel (Fall)," it continued.

Another wire said not "to send a message to chairman of committee" (Lenroot).

"I think everything well in hand."

'Refuse to Tell'

It also reported that Harry F. Sinclair was to testify the next day and that he "will refuse to tell about his personal affairs."

One wire was sent to McLean from the White House by E. W. Starling, secret service operative.

Another from Major mentioned that Fred Starek of the War Finance corporation, was anxious to communicate with McLean, "not about subject at hand, but about the New York matter."

Major sent McLean Starek's telephone number and asked that he call.

A. Mitchell Palmer, former attorney-general, was mentioned frequently in the wires by Major, in connection with the developments before the oil committee.

"Will deliver message to McAdoo and Palmer, as you requested," said another wire.

Fall to Palm Beach

Major also told of arrangements for Fall to go to Palm Beach.

A wire signed "Duckstein," said that "Smithers was anxious to get the job" (Smithers is the name of a White House telegraph operator).

Major detailed how Fall was going to refuse to testify.

Another wire from Major said: "The secretary said in my presence the entire matter would be dropped after Sinclair was questioned in perfunctory manner."

Major said he did not think McLean would be called."

"Palmer said he left Walsh with the impression that he would not call you. He has other people working on Walsh," said another wire from Major.

Senator Lenroot said the McAdoo mentioned in the messages was Francis McAdoo.

Throughout those telegrams read into the proceedings ran a note of anxiety over the probability of McLean being called before the investigating committee. Two told how representatives of the publisher had spoken with Senator Walsh and had come away with the impression that McLean would not be called, although both telegrams emphasized that Walsh would not commit himself on that score.

Two telegrams to McLean, signed with Secretary Fall's name, were concluded "with love" to McLean and members of the publisher's family.

Most of the telegrams were signed by John Major, McLean's confidential representative. One of these mentioned that the sender had "talked with Smithers at the White House."

Another said Major had arranged for an interview with "the man at Wardman Park hotel," where Secretary Fall lived, immediately after he gave his testimony to the committee.

One communication to McLean advised him:

"Central Trust about $13,900."

Advised By Lawyer

There was a telegram to McLean saying that his lawyer, Palmer, advised that under no circumstances was it advisable for McLean to do any telegraphing to the committee.

Still another indicated that McLean would be advised in advance as to the nature of the evidence to be given by Sinclair before the committee.

Major advised McLean by wire that he was ordering the McLean newspapers to feature a statement by Fall.

One telegram said that information given out at the capitol was that "the man at Wardman Park" would not be called to testify.

One communication informed McLean that Palmer was under the impression that McLean was not to be called as a witness and added that "other people" were "working on Walsh."

In one other telegram were the words "get Sinclair busy."

Committee, Behind Closed Doors, Continues Its Probe

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Senate public lands committee today continued its search behind closed doors for additional sensations in the naval oil scandal.

Copies of telegrams for three of the central figures of the investigation—ex-Secretary Albert B. Fall, E. L. Doheny and E. B. McLean—again were under inspection.

In addition, Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, notified officials of the local telephone company to be present to give a record of phone calls from Washington to Palm Beach and New Orleans for any of the three men.

The object was to ascertain whether any officials of the government or any of the members of the committee transmitted secret information to any of the witnesses at the inquiry.

Nothing Sensational

The inquiry thus far, however, has been barren of the sensational results anticipated by Democratic members of the committee when the telegrams were ordered. Fall and McLean were kept constantly in touch with the oil investigation while they were in Palm Beach in December and January, but other than "interesting information" committeemen asserted nothing of a "startling character" has been received by the messages.

Under protest that they were confidential messages, Thomas P. Dowd, the district manager of the Postal Telegraph company, submitted to the committee telegrams that passed between Washington, Palm Beach and New Orleans.

The committee excused Dowd and went at once into executive session to select those communications regarded as revelant to the oil inquiry.

C. T. Clagett, manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone company, was waiting to be called for questioning concerning conversations over his wires.

Prominent Names

Names of several prominent government officials, past and present, were mentioned in the messages, including Senators Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin; Smoot, Republican, of Utah; Walsh, and A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney-general under the Wilson administration, but the evidence was not such as would involve these men, it was declared. The name of Francis McAdoo, New York lawyer, was found as having advised "McLean about certain matters," committeemen said. He may be called by the committee to determine whether he is Francis H. McAdoo, son of William Gibbs McAdoo, candidate for the presidential nomination.

Plan Short Session

In summoning the telephone officials, Walsh wants to determine what Secretary Fall meant when, in New Orleans, after the testimony of Archie Roosevelt, he said he had been in communication by long distance telephone "with a member of the committee." The Republican senator whom Democrats heard had talked with Fall, denied categorically any knowledge of the supposed conversation.

The committee planned only a short session today because of the memorial services for the late President Harding in the house late this afternoon.

In the senate tomorrow, however, the investigation will be resumed in open session full blast. Four witnesses have been called,

Tells Same Story

"During the visit we talked about the loan and Mr. Fall's appearance before the committee. At my instance, Senator Smoot previously had wired Fall to come before the committee to testify. I was insistent that Mr. Fall himself come before the committee. He told us then substantially the same story that he later related in his letter to the committee.

"I supposed then, when I left the apartment, that Mr. Fall would come before the committee. I did not learn anything more until Mr. Fall wrote the committee and said he was leaving the city."

Senator Smoot said:

"Senator Lenroot and I went to Fall and told him we thought it would be best for all concerned, including himself, if he would come before the committee and clear up the only question that was not cleared—where he got the money," Smoot explained. "Everything else had been cleared up and we asked him to clear up this one point.

Personal Matter

"He said it was a personal matter and that he borowed the money from a friend and did not think it was a matter to come before the committee.

"We asked him, however, to come before the committee.

"Instead of coming, he wrote the letter. That was all we did.

"I didn't hear him say he had borrowed the money from McLean, but as we were going out Lenroot told me he (Fall) had said he borrowed the money from McLean.

"After Albert wrote the letter there was nothing more for me to say.

"I had absolute confidence in Fall and when he wrote that letter I thought it was true."

George Chester Wrote Stories In Glendale

The news printed yesterday in The Glendale Evening News telegraph dispatches of the sudden death in New York of George Randolph Chester, noted author, was received with regret in Glendale, for Mr. and Mrs. Chester spent from Februray 15 to July 15 of 1923 at the Walker apartments at 309 East Colorado street.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Pleasure Mad" continues at the Glendale theater, a monumental photoplay presented by Louis B. Mayer, through Metro, produced by Reginald Barker from the Blanche Upright novel, "The Valley of Content," with a cast including William Collier, Jr., Mary Alden, Winifred Bryson, Huntley Gordon and Norma Shearer.

The new production brings him back to his favorite field of domestic drama and is certain to add new lustre to his name. "Pleasure Mad" tells a deeply moving story of the danger that lies in the sudden acquisition of wealth by a poor, but previously, contented family.

Mary Alden, cast in the role of mother, as she was in "The Old Nest," gave a truly superb performance.

THE GATEWAY

Betty Compson in "The White Flower," is the feature picture at the Gateway theater today, another of those tensely dramatic stories, superbly produced, showing this star in a luxurious and exotic setting. From the day she first made her appearance in "The Miracle Man," Miss Compson's reputation has been steadily growing. In "The White Flower" she is seen at the very height of her powers.

Don Carlos' "Indoor Circus," containing troupes of trained ponies, monkeys and dogs, is an added big feature at the Gateway theater today. Fresh from the Orpheum, where it made a decided hit, the attraction is certain to be well received by Glendale theater-goers. It will show at the Gateway theater today and tomorrow. All lovers of animals will want to see it.

BUSINESS WOMEN CLUB ENTERTAINS

Dancing and Music Program Are Main Features of Enjoyable Party

The Glendale Business and Professional Women's club entertained last night with an old time dancing party and program of music, at Hahn's auditorium, demonstrating most conclusively that "old time" ways are still greatly to be enjoyed, especially by the members of the "older set."

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, president, welcomed the members and their guests most cordially, and spoke briefly of the club, the object of its organization, and its aim to be a factor and take a vital interest in the civic life of the community.

This was the first social affair that has been given by the club under the new administration and Dr. Russell took this opportunity to introduce the new officers and chairmen of standing committees, who were greeted with enthusiasm.

Mrs. Nelson Jones, president of the Tujunga Women's club, was introduced and extended greetings from her club, with good wishes for the hostess club—and its future.

Presents Pupils

Mrs. Virginia Freeman, chairman for the evening, presented a number of her pupils in program. Frances Kulp, a promising beginner, sang two pleasing numbers, "If I Were but a Little Flower" (Schnecker), "The Little Damoiselle" (Ivor Novelle).

A trio of advanced pupils, Greta Corderay, Pearl Adair and Gladys White gave a finished rendition of "Morning" (Oley Speaks). Mrs. E. B. Moore sang "Star Eyes" (Oley Speaks), and later gave a humorous reading, "Chicken Hen," both being greatly enjoyed. Miss Gladys White, talented young vocalist, whom Glendale is proud to claim as her own, sang "The Land of Heart's Desire" and "The Bird and the Squirrel."

Mrs. Roberta Young and Miss Frances White were accompanists.

It was a great disappointment to many that Myron Carmen was unable to contribute the number for which he had been announced, owing to a severe cold. Mr. Carmen is a recent comer from the east, a singer of note, and is receiving a welcome in musical circles here.

Dancing Starts

At the close of the program the floor was cleared for informal dancing, with music furnished by the Lowrie-Truitt orchestra. More than one hundred were in line for the old-fashioned grand march which was led by Dr. Jessie Russell and Attorney Bert Woodard. The next number was "Paul Jones," called by Milton Young, and old and young joined in the frolic and fun.

Many of the members were in old-time costumes, some with ruffles galore, and a few with powdered wigs.

Refreshments of delicious home-made cakes and fruit punch were served. Mrs. Virginia Freeman presided at the table where the cakes were dispensed informally, with Frances Kulp serving punch.

FORMER RAILWAY OFFICIALS HERE

W. F. Yeo's Friends From East Who Come to Settle In Calif.

W. F. Yeo of 334 El Bonito street is greatly pleased over the arrival in California of Charles A. Matthews and W. A. Laylor, both old railroad men and old friends of Mr. Yeo.

Mr. Matthews was formerly a general officer of the Northern Pacific, while Mr. Laylor was general passenger agent for the Burlington railroad with headquarters in St. Louis. They have come to California to locate permanently.

They and Mr. Yeo have just returned from a motor trip to Imperial Valley. They drove down the inland route through Riverside and returned via San Diego and up the coast.

J. P. Quigley Buys for Future Building

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Quigley, who for the past two months have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wykoff at 536 West Milford street, left last night via the Southern Pacific for San Francisco, en route back to Galesburg, Ill., their home town.

Mr. Quigley stated just prior to leaving that he had become greatly impressed with Glendale and hoped to put his affairs in such shape as to return and become a permanent resident here.

With this end in view he has bought the property at 406 East Lomita avenue and is also the purchaser of the corner of Stocker and Ebert streets, Bellehurst Park. It is Mr. Quigley's plan on his return to erect a four-family flat on the East Lomita avenue property and build a home on the Bellehurst Park lot.

GETS EXTENSION

Glendale & Montrose railway has been granted an extension of time until June 1, 1924, to eliminate infractions of the statutes governing overhead electric line construction.

COMMENT

That's All

First Smoke of Battle
Our 'Progressive League'
Criminal Conditions
Radio and Libraries

By Gil A. Cowan

First smoke of the political battle to be waged in this state between the Coolidge and Johnson campaigners is seen in the announcement from San Francisco yesterday that not one veteran of the World war was named as a delegate to the Chicago convention on the Coolidge ticket. That will be very displeasing to the former service men, perhaps.

On the other hand, Johnson will be represented by such politicians as Will C. Wood, Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, and several others, who are discredited by the rank and file of republicans. They are the last of the squanderlust gang who are "out," but not aware of it.

The writer was particularly amused the other day at some publicity put out by the so-called "Progressive Voters' league," of which State Senator Herbert C. Jones of San Jose is palpably chairman and Charles W. Cleary, assemblyman from Lindsay, is secretary. It is an anti-Richardson aggregation, housed in some San Francisco office building. A wolf in sheepskin, as it were.

This particular bit of propaganda was in praise of Mr. Cleary, secretary of the organization, who successfully muddled the southern California reapportionment situation last session, as well as standing squarely in the road of efficiency and economy in state government.

Mr. Cleary is a farmer who listens, evidently, to the blandishments of the old wrecking crew. He is that type of legislator elected to serve his district who finds his interests widely scattered by political aspirations. No doubt he is a great man in Tulare county. At least Ford Chatters of the Lindsay Gazette and Charley Whitmore of the Visalia Delta say so. They ought to know. But the great astronomer Laplace once said: "What we know is nothing; what we do not know is immense."

Having commented on the political situation, we turn once again to crime conditions. Wire tapping by federal prohibition enforcement officers and alleged brutality on the part of border guards are the latest sensations.

There is an old saying, "It takes a crook to catch a crook," or words to that effect. Indeed, would the normal, healthy, happy human being desire to do the work dry agents and customs officers are called upon to perform? We should be thankful they are no worse than wire tappers and rough-and-ready fighters.

However, it is good news that the Mexican border is to be closed at 8 p. m. at Tia Juana and Mexicali. It should be shut to all except people on important and necessary missions after night. Then it would be necessary for the habitues of such resorts to sleep in the slime, rather than return to the safe confines of the United States.

And it would stop the unlawful trafficking in liquor and dope and women under the cover of darkness. It would permit of gambling, also drinking, below the border, but it would dampen the ardor of decent people to flirt with the vicious elements after night.

The Santa Barbara News fears that the radio will replace libraries. It says:

"According to a writer in the Boston Transcript, the radio, with its limitless broadcast, has become a serious competitor with the public libraries of many eastern cities and towns.

"An actual decrease in library attendance is reported in some places, while in others there is a lack of growth in spite of the increase in the number of books.

"It is probable that the influence of this new competition with the library will become more marked as the radio is perfected and the broadcasting operations are better systematized.

"Many of these programs now include not only music and addresses, but they carry plays, some of them quite elaborate. This dramatic feature of the radio programs has aroused the apprehension of the playwrights of the country, who charge that their copyright privileges are infringed.

"It must be remembered that the radio is in its infancy. Almost daily new discoveries are made and new devices completed which add to the efficiency and adaptability of the system.

"Inventors already are holding out the hope that in the near future the radio will carry pictures, as well as sounds.

"The library will always hold its place as a reference room. Those who find in the company of good books their best associations will always have recourse to the quiet home of their best friends.

"But those who read merely to 'pass the time' may find in the attractions of the radio with its long-distance entertainment a real rival for the book.

"The libraries, which have survived the competition of the moving picture, lived down the saloon and a score of other rivals, will never succumb to the latest rival."

PASS APPROPRIATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The senate late yesterday passed the 1924-25 interior department appropriation bill carrying a total of $262,000,000, $2,100,000 more than the total agreed upon by the house. Differences will be adjusted in conferences between the two houses before the bill goes to the president.

HANSON OUTLINES SELLING METHODS

Lecture Deals With Handling Of Business Property At Realty Meet

The "Selling of Business Property" was the topic of the fourth lecture in the Glendale Realty Board's educational course, delivered at the luncheon today at the Egyptian Village, by President Peter Hanson, in which he covered the subject from every angle.

Starting with the assertion that salesmanship of real estate is an art that is indispensable and that must make a direct appeal to human nature and must establish a ground work of confidence and faith in the realtor, Mr. Hanson outlined the equipment needed by the seller.

He must, said Mr. Hanson, have at his finger ends all the data regarding any piece of property he is selling, as well as that regarding adjacent property; he must know the rental, the improvements, the income and the outgo on the property. The seller must also have a vision that embraces the needs of the city in which he lives, the trend of the city's growth and development, and he must be able to anticipate the movement of that growth in order to advise his clients on the best places to invest their money.

A history of the property is also essential, both the personal and financial history, showing what transactions it has figured in in the past, and he should also be able to recognize its possibilities for an increase in value.

Must Know Values

A knowledge of values is also required, especially in selling property in the business center of the city. The realtor must know what new buildings are being erected or that are planned, he must know just where the greatest activity is centered and where the greatest crowds pass, so that he may determine values accurately.

In outlining the steps leading up to the closing of the sale, the realtor must be able to arouse the attention of his client, by drawing out the latent desire to invest; he must be able to match his client's needs; he must have accurate data regarding interest, taxes and insurance in his mind; he must marshal the facts in such a manner as to prove his claims by comparison with other properties, and he must present the factors that make for growth.

A salesman should be able to analyze the buyer's mind and to stress what appeals to him, to find out his object in buying, whether it is for his own use, for income or for re-sale; and in all his dealings he must realize the responsibility that rests on the realtor to treat his client justly.

Can Get Diploma

Mr. Hanson advised the members of the board that the present course that is being followed in these lectures will entitle those taking it to a diploma from the University of California, on the passing of an examination, thus placing the profession of a realtor on a level with that of law and medicine.

The next lecture, to be delivered on March 12, will be given by R. N. Stryker.

C. W. Ingledue stated that he would be able to present a final definite report on the progress of the hotel project at next week's meeting.

SCHOOL LAW OF OREGON SCORED

Visitor Here Declares Many Will Leave State If Enforcement Results

"If the Oregon school law is enforced, there will be a general exodus from that state. My family will be among those who will settle in California and at present I like Glendale as well as any place I have seen in this state. The text books in the Glendale High school are all that can be desired, and far surpass the text books used in the public schools of Oregon, which the state officials say my children and grandchildren must study, according to law."

So spoke George S. Parmele, of Taft, Oregon, who is visiting his brother, Rev. R. W. Parmele, pastor of the Glendale Seventh-day Adventist church. Mr. Parmele says he will not conform to the Oregon compulsory public school educational law, nor will members of his family who also have children.

Makes Charges

"I have made a thorough study of some of the text-books in use in the Oregon public schools, and they teach children to lie, cheat and scheme," he said with emphasis. "There is no moral in them either. I thought I had found a good story in one of the books when I saw something in it about King Solomon of the Israelites, but before I got through I was dumfounded to find a lie even about him."

Mr. Parmele is more than ordinarily interested in the question of good schools because his daughter has been a teacher in Oregon for the past twenty years. He has assisted her in her search for good textbooks, and in her examination of textbooks now in use in the schools of that state.

Praises Local High School

His eyes glistened with pleasure as he told of having visited the new Glendale High school on Broadway and finding a physical geography that met his expectations. "It was about as fine a textbook on the subject as I have found anywhere," he declared.

After visiting with Rev. Parmele, Mr. Parmele will visit other relatives in San Diego and Escondido before returning to his Oregon home. He has been taking some side trips out of Glendale and is much pleased with the natural surroundings in this part of the state.

Bible's Place In Modern Thought, Lecturer's Theme In Address To Clubwomen

Taking as his subject "The Place of the Bible in Modern Thought," Dr. Herbert L. Willett, professor of semitic language and literature in the University of Chicago and pastor of the Memorial Church of Christ, Chicago, delivered a stirring and illuminating lecture yesterday at the Tuesday Afternoon club, dealing with the advantages and the necessity of Bible study and emphasizing the claims of the Scriptures as biography, as literature, and as a means of moral discipline and uplift.

The survival of the Book through the period of Voltairism and others of his cult, through the more recent period of so-called higher criticism of Spencer, Huxley and others, was related by Dr. Willett, who stated the Bible was fast assuming its proper place and "that the movement is coming faster than we think."

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon club were made most happy yesterday by the presence of their president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who has been absent several meetings on account of illness. Mrs. Campbell, in response to the warm greeting, thanked the club for the courtesies shown and the sympathy expressed during her illness.

Change in By-Laws

Following the salute to the flag, led by the patriotic chairman, Mrs. S. C. Leppelman, and the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the secretary, Mrs. William Hunter, Mrs. A. A. Barton, chairman of the revision of the by-laws committee, gave notice of proposed changes in Article 3, Section 4, relating to the duties of the first and second vice-presidents, by striking out the last two sentences and inserting "The second vice-president shall be the chairman of the ways and means committee," and, in Article 6, by striking out Section 3. These proposed changes will be voted upon in two weeks.

Mrs. Campbell announced the appointment by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of Los Angeles district, of Mrs. R. W. Meekers, of the Tuesday Afternoon club, as district chairman of the commission on "Conservation of the Redwoods." This committee will endeavor to raise funds to purchase property where the trees may be preserved.

It was also announced by Mrs. Campbell that the Royal Stock company, which has been leasing the auditorium for four nights a week, has terminated the lease, and the auditorium is available for other organizations which may desire to rent.

Mrs. Houston, second vice-president, reminded the members that there were chairs still unsold in the auditorium.

Federated Clubs

Mrs. W. E. Evans, district federation secretary, gave a report of the district board meeting in Los Angeles Tuesday morning. Mrs. Evans said that among the thirteen clubs recently federated was the Glendale Parliamentary Law club, of which Mrs. Opal Greenwait is president, which federated through Mrs. Evans, district federation secretary and member of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. Evans also announced that Governor Richardson had designated March 7, Luther Burbank's birthday, as tree and arbor day.

Mrs. Campbell announced that at the board meeting Tuesday morning the board had accepted with regret the resignation, on account of illness, of Mrs. J. T. Crampton as director, and had appointed Mrs. E. B. Sutton to fill the vacancy. Also that the resignation of Mrs. P. S. McNutt as parliamentarian, on account of the illness of Mr. McNutt, was regretfully accepted, and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett will act as parliamentarian.

A number of changes in the program as announced were made. Miss Hermine Schwed, who was scheduled to appear on March 11, will not be able to fill her engagement, and John Smallman, well-known singer and director, will present a program of music. On March 18, instead of Louis K. Anspacher, as announced in the bulletin, Miss Margaret Mysor of the Travelers' Aid will speak, and Madame Jozefa Kudlicka will have an interesting exhibit.

The presidents' council of Los Angeles district, which meets at the Highland Park clubhouse for luncheon on Friday, will be attended by the president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, and Mesdames W. E. Evans, Frank Ayars, B. W. Holbrook and Claude N. Putnam.

During the district convention in April in Glendale, a dinner will be given at the clubhouse on Thursday, April 10. Reservations will be limited to 275, the delegates having first chance.

The Press club luncheon will be held April 9, at the Egyptian Village.

Want Kodak Pictures For Tiger Year Book

Next week will be kodak week on the Occidental campus. The college year book, La Encina, must have plenty of snap shots and the best way to obtain them is to have all the students take pictures and turn in the best ones to the editor. Everyone who can lay hands on a camera is going to bring it to school and the orders are to shoot to kill. La Encina wants all kinds of pictures—funny, foolish, freakish and the like. The person who submits the best collection of five will receive a free copy of La Encina with his name stamped on the cover.

COLLEGE HEAD IS GLENDALE VISITOR

Prof. W. E. Nelson Tells of Adventist Institution Near St. Helena

Prof. W. E. Nelson, president of the Pacific Union college, located near St. Helena, Calif., was an interested visitor to the new Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital yesterday, where he said it was one of the most modern institutions of its kind he had ever seen. He was impressed with the arrangement of the treatment rooms in the medical building, the operating room, and the culinary department where he found new stoves ready to be set up, and the inside appearance of such a character as to guarantee the wholesomeness and cleanliness with which the food will be prepared.

As the head of an educational institution that takes care of several hundred students every day of the school term, Prof. Nelson expressed his appreciation of the culinary department, and dining-room arrangements, and predicted that these features of the institution would add much toward its success.

Sees Former Students

Prof. Nelson came to Glendale to make an inspection of the Glendale academy. Accompanied by Prof. W. W. Ruble, educational secretary of the Pacific Union conference, he visited the different rooms of the academy, and expressed his pleasure over the equipment. He said the institution ranked favorably with any of the academies he has visited on the Pacific coast. An interesting feature in connection with his visit to the Glendale academy was the fact that every member of the faculty, with the exception of one, was a former student of his, either at the Pacific Union college, or at the Walla Walla, Wash., college.

Prof. Nelson and Prof. Ruble are making an inspection tour of the different academies in the Pacific Union Conference territory. From here they will go to Phoenix, Ariz., then to the La Sierra academy in Riverside, the academy at Fresno, and those in Loma Linda, San Diego and Long Beach. Before coming to Glendale they visited the academies in Lodi, Mountain View and Berkeley.

Erected by Students

The institution of which Prof. Nelson is the head is located on an 1800-acre tract of land in the mountains about 1600 feet above sea level. He says the tract is in the coast range about sixty-eight miles from San Francisco, and that all the buildings on the land have been erected by student help. He says the boys are taught carpentry, and other kinds of wood work, printing, dairying and farming, and the girls are taught domestic science.

"We have a boys' dormitory," he said, "that will accommodate 160 students, while another for the girls takes care of 116 students. This boys' dormitory has the largest number of students under one room of any Seventh-day Adventist educational institution in the world. Of course we have other smaller dormitories.

"We do not buy any milk or butter for our own use, as these two commodities are supplied from our farm. Most of our vegetables are also grown on the farm that is largely operated by students. Our industries make it possible for a large number of our students to help themselves through school.

Free from Debt

"During the past season, we dried nineteen tons of prunes from our own orchard, and sold off all of them but a few hundred pounds. Our industries are bringing us in a good revenue, and even though we have recently made $70,000 worth of improvements our institution is free from debt, and we get no endowment from the state."

Prof. Nelson said quite a few of the nurses now connected with the Glendale Sanitarium were former students at his college, and he had some pleasant chats with them while visiting in the institution.

Bank's Burglar Alarm Calls Police Squadron

Shortly after 11 o'clock last night the police flying squadron made a visit to the Pacific Southwest bank on Brand boulevard, answering the ringing of the burglar alarm. Everything was found to be in order, and the alarm was turned off by a bank employe.

Realty Board Dance At Odd Fellows' Hall

The Glendale Realty Board tonight will be host to the members and their friends at a dance to be held in the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway, and the usual big turnout is anticipated by the members of the entertainment committee who are in charge of the affair. For those who do not care to dance there will be tables where they may enjoy card games, and refreshments will be served during the evening. The dance will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Music for the dance will be furnished by a talented local orchestra.

It had originally been planned to have a program preceding the dance, but it was decided by the entertainment committee that they should confine their entertainment at this time to the dance alone, planning to stage a program at a later date.

Tigers Meet Calteck, Pomona Debate Teams

The last series of debates in the Southern California League of Public Speaking will be held March 6. The "supreme court" question is creating a new sensation in forensic circles. The Occidental team will support the affirmative at Pomona, while the California Institute of Technology will meet the Tiger negative team at Occidental. The results of these last two debates will determine the Oxy ranking in the conference for the year.

Since the Tiger silver tongued orators won victories over the University of Southern California and Whittier college, the chances of a conference championship seemed favorable. However, the recent double defeat in the S. B. U. C. and Redlands contest have somewhat dimmed the hopes for the title. There is still a chance to win the honors on March 6.

PROTECTION TO CHILDREN FROM AUTO SPEEDERS

City Officials Devise Plan to Safeguard Lives at School Crossings

The lives of the school children, a matter of grave concern to all residents of this city, are to be preserved at all costs, say members of the City Council, and to insure immediate results the precautionary measures to be adopted have been left with V. B. Stone, city manager, and Chief of Police John D. Fraser with power to act.

They met immediately after the council session yesterday and already have perfected a plan which they will put into effect at once, for a thorough test before it is accepted or finally rejected for something better.

The plan as outlined by the city manager yesterday afternoon gives a triple check on autoists passing school houses, as follows:

First—Standards, similar to the "Keep to the Right" signs used in Los Angeles, about four feet high, and bearing the caution, "School—Slow down to five miles per hour," will be placed in the middle of all streets approaching the schools at hours designated by the school board. They will be placed in position in the morning and removed at night.

Second—Across the street intersection from these signs, in front of the school buildings, will be the "safety" zones through which children may cross the street.

Third—An officer will be on duty at all schools during the time deemed necessary by the school board and the chief of police.

"It is a difficult problem," said the city manager yesterday afternoon," to get a system that will meet every requirement. There is, however, as far as we can see, but one loophole in the present

BOYS' CHOIR WILL FURNISH MUSIC FOR CHURCH

Casa Verdugo Methodists Organize Young Vocal Artists

The organization of the first boys' vested choir in the city, that has taken its place in conducting regular services, marks a distinctive page in the history of the progress of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church, and establishes a precedent in local church circles. The choir has been organized during the past month with eighteen members, with two vacancies, and the membership will be closed at twenty.

The boys have displayed deep interest in the undertaking and their first night of singing was a success in both solo and chorus work. Their ages range from 10 to 15 years, and they were selected from the intermediate classes of the Casa Verdugo Sunday school, but the choir is not closed to outsiders.

Robert Whitton is the possessor of a high soprano voice and is a promising soloist. Robert Keller sings soprano, clear and unusually strong, does well with solo work, and is a splendid leader for the chorus. Lee Blair will sing contralto and will contribute instrumental numbers with his cornet.

There is promising material in the personnel of the chorus that

Presbyterians Branching Out In Many Activities In New Building

With a splendid new building at their command members of the Glendale Presbyterian church are enjoying many activities in that they are not confined to the congregation, but are open to any one interested.

All young business women in Glendale are cordially invited to affiliate themselves with the Rhoda Bible club, which meets every Tuesday night at the church. Dinner is served at 6:30 o'clock and later Mrs. M. H. Terry, parish worker, directs the study hour. At present the club is studying the book of Romans.

For the kiddies is the daily kindergarten meeting in the primary department of the west part of the church building, and supervised by Miss Anita Fletcher, trained kindergartener. The daily sessions are from 9 to 11:30 o'clock and are free to children from three to five years. This kindergarten is undenominational.

Bible Teacher

The general membership of the church is now anticipating the coming of Dr. William Evans, Bible teacher, who will conduct a series of classes from March 9 till 23.

There will be a meeting every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and every night at 7:30 o'clock, open to the church members and friends.

Dr. Evans has just closed similar Bible conferences in Texas and at Long Beach.

In connection with the meetings in Glendale Herbert D. Tovey, Australian tenor, will have charge of the music.

HARROWERS PLAN TRIP TO ENGLAND

Doctor, Wife and Their Daughter to Be Away for Several Months

Dr. and Mrs. Henry R. Harrower and their daughter, Miss Verna Harrower, of 1510 East Broadway, have engaged passage to England aboard the steamer Majestic, sailing from New York April 26. They will leave Glendale around the middle of April and plan to be gone for several months.

Dr. Harrower will make London his headquarters during their stay abroad, from which point he will make numerous trips into France, Switzerland, Belgium and possibly Germany and other countries, in the interest of further scientific investigations for the Harrower laboratory at 920 East Broadway.

Basis of Research

The study of ductless glands and internal secretions will be the basis of Dr. Harrower's research, he states, the idea being to develop a broader application of the idea upon which his laboratory is founded.

During the Harrowers' absence their home will be occupied by J. Canright and his daughter, Miss Alta Canright, of Michigan, who are now their guests.

Mrs. E. H. Gillies to Sail for Scotland

Mrs. Eugene H. Gillies of 720 Wing street will sail for Scotland from New York on May 31, aboard the steamer Tuscania, returning July 15 aboard the Montlaurier, reports Clarence A. Redmond, district passenger agent for the Union Pacific Railway Company, in charge of their Glendale office on South Brand boulevard, through which bookings and passports were obtained.

Oxy Students Pay Travel Expense of Teacher to China

The Hangchow committee of Occidental announced today that $500 had been raised in the campaign last week, for money to pay the transportation expenses of the Tiger representative in China. Each year a student is chosen to go to the Hangchow Christian college, at Hangchow, China, and teach. It is a tradition of the college that a student shall go to the Orient, and that he shall represent the Occidental student body. The students bear all the burdens of sending a member forth to carry the Tiger spirit into the Occidental of the east.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENCE

Mrs. H.—When the baby begins to walk he should have a shoe with a flexible but fairly thick sole, with no heel. The shoes must be broad and at least one size too long.

We will give you a list of books on child feeding if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this paper. In general, a diet for a child of one to two years should contain about one quart of milk a day, dry crisp bread and butter, cereals, eggs (especially the egg yolks) pureed vtgetables, stewed fruit and scraped fresh fruit.

The number of calories (from 800 to 1200) depends upon the size and age of the child. At the fifteenth month you can begin to give just three meals a day, with the exception of the juice of one-half or a full orange between his breakfast and dinner.

Mrs. E.—Yes, it is true that a person sleeping next to the wall does not get so good a circulation of air as one who sleeps with a space around the bed. The best position for a bed (if you haven't a sleeping porch) is near an open window. You may have to wear a night cap and extra bed clothes when it is cold.

J. M.—Perhaps you did not use the agar in sufficient amounts to get results for your constipation. You can take your mineral oil on top of a glass of water one part of the day and the agar another part of the day; or take them at the same time, if you prefer. Agar makes a good cereal alone, or you can mix it with any cereal. Pour hot water over it and eat it with top milk or cream if you take it straight. You have to purchase agar and mineral oils at your drug store.

"Dear Doctor: I have gained thirty-six pounds in about four months by following your gaining directions. Oh! I cannot thank you enough. The tongue cannot tell how happy I am. Will you send an article on development of the bust. Mine are too small in proportion to my size.—A. B."

Usually when the weight is increased the size of the bust is increased also, on account of the deposit of fat in them. Tht size of the breast, as far as glandular tissue is concerned, is an inherited characteristic. Exercises to develop the chest will increase tht apparent size of the bust. All the arm movements, swimming, exercise on the hanging bar, otc., are good chest developers.

Mrs. K.—It is too bad that everyone is not so sensible as you are when they find abnormal lumps in the breast. As you tell me, you had yours surgically removed very early and were saved from death from cancer.

"Dear Doctor: I sometimes cannot believe it is really myself I see in the mirror until I look at some photographs taken before I commenced to diet. I weighed 155 pounds and now I weigh 121, which is the right weight for my height. I must say I feel and look like a different being, and also look ten years younger—and oh, how good to be able to slip into a 36 instead of a 44 dress! I sometimes thought I would never be able to hold out, especially when I had to pass a candy window with my eyes shut. I just want you to know how grateful I am to you.—Thankful."

Candy is the greatest dietetic sin of the overweighters, there is no doubt. I am glad you conquertd.

Any one else want to look ten years younger? Send a self-addressed stamped envelope and four cents in stamps. We'll give you the directions.

"Dear Doctor Lulu: My baby is just five months old and every time I nursed him the milk was no sooner down than it came up again, however, when I read your article about keeping the band a little loost to allow the stomach to expand after eating, I knew the cause of all my trouble. He is the first baby, so I guess that is all the explanation I need to give. Can you imagine the discomfort I must have caused him? I suppose the tight band just forced the milk up. I can never thank you enough. A Happy New Year to you; you have made mine happy. Mrs. H."

Tight baby bands will not only cause vomiting, but may cause indigestion and colic. If they are very tight, they may also cause defermity, so the adjusting of the band is very important. First babies and second babies and third babies alike, will suffer from them. The suffering of the first baby naturally causes more anxiety, because so often it is not understood.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. FACE REFUTES BRANDING CHARGE

Features Conceal Alleged Cruelty Strain

Pauline and Anna Ferger and their step-mother, Mrs. Josephine Ferger.

Psycho-analysts are unable to find in photos of the face of Mrs. Josephine Ferger, New York woman, evidences of the strain of cruelty charges, proved against her in court, indicate she possesses. She was found guilty of having branded her two step-daughters, Anna and Pauline Ferger, 9 and 6 years old, respectively, with a hot iron "because they told lies." She gave the court a faultless story of how the branding was "accidental." The scars were exhibited by the little girls.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

HELPED BY OUR LETTERS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Mother has often said that all I ever read in the paper is your letters, but even if it is only your letters, sometimes I feel that I have been helped by them. I only hope that you will be able to help me now.

I am lonesome and crave love. I have had no one to return my love until now. A second cousin came into my life and I love him dearly and he loves me. I am nineteen and he is a good many years older than I. But don't you think that I am old enough to know if I really love this man?

Would marriage be possible? I try to forget him, but find that I love him more. TROUBLED.

It is considered safe for second cousins to marry. I think, however, that at the age of nineteen you are rather young to be sure of your love. Give time a chance to test the depth of your affection since your second cousin is considerably older than you are. About the only help for loneliness is to forget oneself in service to other people. If you try you can make a good many friends. Simply begin in your own home and neighborhood to love more and give more of yourself. Friends are certainly earned. So often a person of retiring nature hesitates to be over friendly and therefore stands in her own way of getting close to people.

A LOST CHUM

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a girl chum and lately I cannot understand her actions. She and I used to be together all the time while we were out of school, but now she has a boy friend and she doesn't seem to think I am good enough for her. She acts very grown up and laughs at the things I say and tells me they are childish. I am very lonesome without my chum and want to know what I can do to win back her affections.

LONESOME.

After a girl has her first sweetheart she is very apt to change. I am afraid you and your girl friend will not be congenial while she goes with a boy and you do not. Do your part to be friendly, but try not to grieve when she is not responsive. Instead of trying to win back her affections, I would advise you to interest yourself in some other girl who will have something to think about besides a sweetheart.

TROUBLESOME TATTLE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl seventeen years old and I have been going with a boy for a year. I love him very much, and I think he likes me. But there is another girl who runs around telling tales. How will I get her to keep quiet? He goes with her sometimes and then tells me what he heard. How can I keep him from going with her and believing what she tells him?

WONDERING.

The more you fret about what people have to say concerning you, the more they are apt to say. Do as nearly as possible what you consider right, and then do not worry about what people say. It would be advisable to be particularly friendly to the girl who talks too much. Do not try to keep the boy from going with whomever he wishes, even if it is the girl who has proved herself false to you. He will not believe what she says about you if he knows you to be otherwise.

NOTHING TO BE DONE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl in my teens. I met a boy about a week ago and he seems to like me very much. He asked to bring me home and I let him.

There is a girl he used to go with and when she is at dances he asks her to dance quite often. I like the boy very much. Please give me some advice.

UNHAPPY GIRL.

There is really nothing you can do to force the boy to show greater interest in you. Since he took you home, however, you have something to encourage you, and perhaps later on he will show even greater interest in you. Try not to be jealous of the other girl and by no means let him see that you notice his attentions to her. Also be careful not to give him the impression that you are deeply interested in him. Be friendly, but not eager.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

CARING FOR THE EYES

The eyes should be washed out occasionally, not too often, for too much washing can be harmful. But when they are very tired or after a long trip in a railway train or a motor, or when they feel sleepy and gummy, or after you have been crying — times like these an eyewash will be very refreshing.

Plain cold water is always safe. To make sure that it is absolutely pure a little bit of boracic acid should be added as this is mildly antiseptic. Stronger solutions of boracic acid are recommended for tired eyes and for irritation. Some people bathe the eyes in warm milk and say that this is very restful, and very weak fresh tea has also been recommended, though personally I think a soft cloth wrung out of hot tea and used as a compress over the eyelids will be even better. Alternating hot and cold compresses with plain water are always good for tired eyes.

Nothing must ever be dropped into the eyes except at a doctor's recommendation. There are things to make the eyes artificially bright, I have in mind several which I know to be harmful. Bright eyes are the result of good health and good digestion. All that an eye bath can do is to stimulate occasionally and to keep the eyes free from dust. The chief value of an eye bath is that it keeps the lashes themselves clean so that particles do not drop into the eyes.

The eyes must be rested now and then if your work is any sort of a strain, even closing them a half minute at a time will do wonders. There should not be a direct glare of light on the eyes; lamps should be shaded and not too bright, and the bed should always be turned so that the morning light does not shine into the eyes. It is better for the eyes if you sleep in a dark room, even a little night light is disturbing. Massaging the eyelids gently is restful and refreshing.

Mrs. J. K. S.—Try drinking a pint of hot milk on retiring, or take a warm bath in addition to the milk. Each treatment should prove very relaxing and if you forget everything for a time you will likely fall asleep and break up the habit of wakefulness.

Ethel Dolores — You should weigh 120 pounds and should reduce at the rate of about a pound a week on your present excellent diet.

Wash Them Out Occasionally

Mrs. H. L.—Let the hair alone and the old color will return.

A soft fresh brush is very good for the complexion when getting rid of blackheads.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Ida Gooday is a granddaughter of the famous Indian outlaw, Geronimo. She does not display any of the traits that kept her grandfather's name before the public, however, and is taking a domestic science course at the government school at Phoenix, Ariz.

Judge Thomas F. Graham, divorce judge of San Francisco, does not believe that movies, washing machines, motor cars, dancing and jazz are breaking the ties that hold the modern family together. Not because of these luxuries, but for lack of them, men and women who once loved each other are taking separate paths through life.

"Modern marriages are not failing," Judge Green said recently. "They are just as lasting today as ever, and as many happy couples are going down the long lane of life hand and hand as in the past. Just because a few do not make a go of it we cannot proclaim the entire marriage institution unsuccessful. It is the rare case that comes into the divorce courts, despite the fact that divorces are growing more common.

"Wives and mothers who live in apartment houses where a few of the more menial tasks of housekeeping are done for them, have more time to devote to their husbands and babies; they have greater lesiure to read and study, improve their minds and learn to be greater helpmates and wiser mothers. They are healthier, happier wives and mothers because they have been relieved of some of their onerous tasks."

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Men leave their loved ones, abandon comforts of life and mild climates and stake their very lives for the chance of making "that one big strike."

A three-masted schooner, named the Speedway, is prepared and laying at anchor in Los Angeles harbor, awaiting to start for the northern regions—for gold. L. S. McGurk, mining engineer and explorer, is master of the boat. The Speedway is reported to have been purchased by the Siberian Exploration and Navigation Company and is being outfitted to battle the treacherous ice floes of the spring along the Siberian and Alaskan coasts.

Seventy-three men are expected to make up the intrepid crew of the Speedway when she sails for the North. If unable to find gold the Speedway crew will not return empty-handed, Captain McGurk says, but will gather furs.

The Speedway is being outfitted only with such things as will be necessary on the trip, but many items will be carried for the natives that inhabit the Northern shores. The question of cross-country transportation has not been overlooked by the adventurers. Of course, there will be much "mushing" behind the "huskies." But as summer comes on, even in the Arctic, good going is sometimes experienced and to save precious hours an automobile will be carried.

Doomed to die by the hangman's noose as a penalty for their crimes, twelve Los Angeles county men are now awaiting death at the hands of the state.

Of this number nine are now in the state penitentiaries and three others await transfer to the penitentiary. It is learned from the sheriff's office that because of crowded conditions at San Quentin the latter trio probably will be taken to Folsom prison.

Those awaiting death at the hands of the state from Los Angeles are:

Jack Ferdinand, John Sears and "Smoky" Geregac, convicted of the murder of Charles Chapman, insurance broker, in a hold-up last November.

William A. Bringhurst and William Thompson, convicted of killing a policeman here in 1921.

Clarence ("Tuffy") Reid, convicted of the trunk factory murder of I. Weingarten early last year.

Isaac Wolfgang, convicted slayer of a policeman. Wolfgang shot the officer who attempted to arrest him for the theft of a bottle of milk.

S. Pompa, a Mexican, who murdered a man during a quarrel over tools.

Joe Sinuel and Robert Mathews, convicted of the murder of a Bell merchant.

Frank Champion, who killed John Carpenter during a quarrel over 20 cents.

Francisco Cacade, convicted of killing a San Fernando policeman.

Exile has wrought noticeable changes in the face of William "Big Bill" Haywood, radical labor leader, who fled the United States to avoid serving a prison sentence imposed by federal authorities. This is indicated by a photo of him taken recently in Moscow just received in this country. He is making a close study of the progress of the workers' republic and writing his memoirs of American labor struggles.

Our Defense at Panama

Inadequate in Guns, Personnel and Other Essential Elements, Say Naval Authorities

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the third of a series of articles on the military, naval and commercial situation at the Panama Canal, written after an investigation by a representative of International News Service.

COLON, Panama, Feb. 27.—Undermanned.

In one word can be told the story of how the army is handicapped should it suddenly be called upon to defend the Panama canal from aggression and give assurance that our fleet could pass through the canal in safety.

The peace garrison now in the Canal Zone is approximately 8,900 officers and men, of which the mobile troops, including auxiliary troops, comprise 6,342, the coast artillery 1,872, the air service 686.

The authorized war garrison for Panama is 48,980 officers and men, comprised as follows: Mobile troops, including auxiliary troops, 35,884; coast artillery, 8,477, and air service, 4,619.

It was proved to the satisfaction of high army officials at the recent joint army and navy maneuvers in Panama that the mobile forces here are not sufficient to resist the possible landing forces that might be put on the isthmus to operate against them.

Even though reinforcements were rushed to Panama from the United States, there are not sufficient housing, storage and supply installations to man them nor roads to move them promptly to threatened points.

Military men say that it would be much more advisable to have the men here in case of an emergency rather than have to rush reinforcements who would not be acclimated to the zone, where the weather is downright hot—Panama being less than ten degrees north of the equator—and where malaria and other tropical diseases must be combatted.

The project approved by the secretary of war calls for an increase in the peace strength of the land forces regularly assigned to the Canal Zone. An increase in the personnel and material, army officials contend, is necessary to build the roads, strengthen the garrisons and make the zone safe from invasion in the event of a new war into which the United States conceivably might be suddenly plunged at some time in the future.

WHO'S WHO

CHARLES W. MERRILL

The achievement of Charles W. Merrill of San Francisco in the field of non-ferrous metallurgy during 1923 surpasses that of any other scientist in the judgment of the donors of the James Douglas Medal, awarded for work in this field of science. For this reason Merrill receives the gold medal for the past year. He is the second scientist to be thus honored. The presentation of the medal was made at the session of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers in New York, Feb. 20.

C. W. MERRILL

Merrill is connected with several large metallurgical concerns and is the author of many technical papers and treatises published in the proceedings of scientific societies and technical press.

A NEW RADIO SUGGESTION

It's high time that radio ceased to be a public plaything and was turned to some really useful purpose.

For instance, every evening between the hours of six and seven the following should be broadcast at intervals into every family dining room in the United States:

"Eat from the side of your spoon."

"No, you're not going to fill up on crackers and butter."

"Don't tellme that you washed those hands before you came to the table!"

"Take your spoon out of your cup."

"Never mind what's for dessert, first eat your meat and potatoes."

"The crusts will make your hair curly."

"There you go. All over my new clean tablecloth!"

POEMS That LIVE

O turn away those cruel eyes,
The stars of my undoing!
Or death, in such a bright disguise
May tempt a second wooing.
Punish their blind and impious pride,
Who dare condemn thy glory;
It was my fall that defied
Thy name, and seal'd thy story.
Yet no new suffering can prepare
A higher praise to crown thee;
Though my first death proclaim thee fair,
My second will unthrone thee.
Lovers will doubt thou canst entice
No other for thy full,
And if those burn thy victims twice,
Both think thee poor and cruel.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE JUMPING JACK

There sounded a knock on the door of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Looking out, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy saw Floppy Twistytail, the piggie boy, standing on the steps. Floppy held something in his paw.

"What is it?" Floppy?" asked the muskrat lady, opening the door a little crack.

"If you please, where is Uncle Wiggily?" asked the piggie boy.

"Now, Floppy, Uncle Wiggily can't come out and play with you today," said Nurse Jane. "I know it is kind of you to ask him, but it simply can not be done! Run along now, like a good little pig."

"I didn't come to ask Uncle Wiggily to play with me!" grunted Floppy, sort of indignant like.

"Didn't you?" inquired Nurse Jane. "Well, excuse me, but so many of the animal boys and girls come here to get Uncle Wiggily that I have to send them away. Anyway, Uncle Wiggily can't go out in the cold. His pink nose isn't twinkling just right, and he must stay in and warm it."

"I'm sorry about his nose," grunted Floppy. "All I came for was to ask him to fix my Christmas jumping jack. It's broken—my jack is—and won't jump. I thought maybe Uncle Wiggily could fix it. I'll stop and get it on my way home from school this afternoon."

"Oh, that's all right, Floppy," said Nurse Jane, speaking more kindly. "Though Uncle Wiggily can't go out, I'm sure he will be glad to fix your broken toy. Give it to me and stop here on your way home from school."

"Thank you," grunted Floppy, hopping along.

When Uncle Wiggily looked at the piggie boy's broken jumping jack, the rabbit gentleman laughed and said:

"This is easily mended, indeed. I shall soon have it fixed. All it needs is a new string on the left leg."

So the rabbit gentleman worked away in his hollow stump bungalow, mending the jack and, between times, twinkling his pink nose. Soon his nose glistened as brightly as ever, and a few minutes later Mr. Longears cried:

"Hurray!"

"What's the matter now?" asked Nurse Jane from the kitchen, where she was making an apple dumpling out of carrots.

"Oh, the jumping jack is working just fine!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Look, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy!"

He hopped to the kitchen, carrying the piggie boy's Christmas toy, and, holding the jack up in front of his muskrat lady housekeeper, Uncle Wiggily pulled the string.

"Zoop!" went the jack, kicking his arms out and his legs up. And one of his sharp pointed toes, by accident, kicked Nurse Jane right on the end of her nose.

"Oh! Ouch!" she cried.

"I beg your pardon! Truly, I beg your pardon!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "I'm so sorry!"

"Oh, it doesn't matter!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I know you didn't mean to do it."

"Certainly not!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "But the jack is mended so that he jumps better than at first. My nose, too, is all right again. It is pinker than ever and twinkles twice as fast. So I am going out, and I'll take Floppy's toy to his house and leave it for him."

"All right," answered Nurse Jane, rubbing her nose, which still hurt a little, where the jumping jack had kicked her. "And I hope nothing happens to you, Uncle Wiggily."

"Except that I would like an adventure," said the bunny.

Away he hopped, over the fields and through the woods, until when he was almost at Floppy's house, carrying the mended jumping jack, all of a sudden, the Fuzzy Fox jumped out from behind a bush.

"What have you there?" howled the Fox, jumping close to the rabbit and looking hungrily at his ears. "What have you there?"

"This? Oh, it's just Floppy's jumping jack," answered the bunny. "This is how it works!"

The Fox leaned over close to see and then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily pulled the string.

"Zoops!" went the jumping jack. Up he kicked with both feet, and he kicked the Fox very hard on the bad chap's soft and tender nose.

"Ouch! Auchie! Itchie!" howled the Fox. Then Uncle Wiggily pulled the string again and once more the jumping jack kicked the Fox. "Itchie! Ouchie! Wowchie!" howled Mr. Fox. Then, holding his paw to his sore nose, away he ran and he didn't nibble the bunny that day.

"Zoop!" went the jumping jack.

"It's a good thing I mended Floppy's jumping jack for him!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped along to the piggie boy's house.

So everything happened for the best and if the egg beater doesn't climb up on the window sill and shake hands with the clock, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the heavy can.

Want Governor To Speak At Opening Ceremony Of New Glendale Sanitarium

Plans for the formal opening of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on March 23 were outlined to the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce last night by C. E. Kimlin, business manager of the institution, who stated that he desired the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce in securing Governor Richardson to deliver an address at the ceremony that is to be held in connection with the launching of the new hospital. Mr. Kimlin also asked the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce in securing the services of a band for that date.

The final cost of the completed sanitarium and hospital, Mr. Kimlin stated, will run close to $1,500,000, and he declared that he wants the people of Glendale to be present at the formal opening, and to see just what the men behind the new enlarged institution are building here, an institution that even before its completion, is widely known in many quarters of the world.

Director A. R. Eastman, in urging that the request of Mr. Kimlin be granted, praised the management of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital for the manner in which they had conducted the work in connection with its building and financing, declaring that the whole enterprise is a credit to the city and to the men behind it.

President W. E Hewitt promised Mr. Kimlin that the Chamber of Commerce would support him in his plans for the opening of the institution in every possible way.

Opening of Depot

A communication from W. A. Howe, manager of the entertainment committee, suggested a tentative program to be staged in connection with the opening of the new Southern Pacific depot, which is nearing completion. The exact date for the affair has not yet been set, it is stated, but a definite program will be arranged in time to permit a number of the road's leading officials to be here for the occasion.

L. T. Rowley, in his report on a meeting with the road committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley, stated that one of the principal matters that came up for discussion was that of the separation of grades at railroad crossings on the highways of the valley, and added that he had been given to understand that the railroad commission would frown on any plans to establish any more level crossings in this region, in view of the growth in traffic.

A report on a conference on the Boulder dam project, at which representatives of various civic bodies from all over southern California were present, was given by Mr. Rowley, and he stated that the Swing-Johnson bill was endorsed by the members at the conference, and that telegrams were sent to the California delegation in Congress urging their support for the measure.

The contract for the printing of an additional 10,000 Glendale booklets was let to the Pioneer Printing company of Glendale, on the report of Paul E. Stillman, chairman of the advertising committee, the price to be $580. Mr. Stillman also reported on the request of Mrs. Mattison B. Jonees, president of the Glendale Music club, that the Chamber of Commerce support the club's plans for the presentation of the oratorio, "Elijah," on March 25, and Secretary E. F. Sanders was instructed to communicate with the Pacific Electric to arrange for the display of advertising banners on the sides of the street cars.

Tell City's Growth

On the suggestion of President Hewitt, the week beginning March 10 will be set aside as a time for advertising Glendale, and stickers that can be affixed to automobiles will be distributed bearing the words "Glendale 50,000," so that the growth of the city and its present population may be broadcasted by every motorist in the city.

The directors authorized Secretary Sanders to prepare and forward a resolution of sympathy to Director D. H. Smith on the death of Mrs. Smith.

C. W. Ingledue reported on the progress that has been made in the plans for the erection of a hotel at the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue, stating that the prospects are extremely bright for an early start on the work. A financing company and a contracting concern have each submitted proposals to the company in connection with the building of the hotel, and the directors of the hotel company are now conferring with their legal advisers regarding the acceptance of the proposals submitted and the signing of the contracts.

"Glendale Tunnel"

Director Fred Deal was authorized to communicate with D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Electric, to ask that the name of the new subway that is to connect Glendale and Los Angeles be called the "Glendale tunnel," instead of the "Hollywood tunnel," as at present.

E. E. McWain, adjutant of American Legion Post No. 127, was introduced, and pledged the support of the Legion to the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

A sugestion made by Charles H. Bird, 505 Pioneer drive, that an advertising club, separate from, but sponsored by, the Chamber of Commerce, be formed to assist in raising the service fund sought by the Chamber of Commerce and also to carry on the publicity work of the organization, was discussed briefly, but no action was taken at this time.

affair should take place in the Verdugo Hills, the home of Mr. McGroarty, scribe of California history and romance. The inspiration for the program came from prominent residents of the La Crescenta district.

Artists Volunteer

Their desire to aid Mr. McGroarty in building the playhouse was shared by Mrs. H. Luella Topliff, pianist, and Miss Grace Eaton, reader, both talented artists and they volunteered to give the lecture recital.

Sponsoring the affair are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Turck, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Culberson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson, Miss Gertrude Drennan, Dean and Mrs. Archibald Bouton of the University of New York, Miss Hamilton, dean of the music department of Smith College and other well known people in the southland.

Mrs. Topliff, who will present the lecture-recital, announced as "The Development of Piano Music from the Time of the Harpsichord to the Present Day," is an experienced pianist. Her lecture will be illustrated from the compositions of Alessandro Scarlatti in 1649 in a theme and variations, to a theme and variations of the young composer of our time, Edward Royce, depicting the character and traits of the Puritans.

Program in Detail

The program in full will be:

Harpsichord composers: Italian school, 1649-1725, "Theme con Varizon" (Alessandro Scarlatti); French school, 1683-1764, "Tambour in E Minor" (Jean Phillippe Rameau); North German school, 1685-1750, "Cartita B Flat" (John Sebastian Bach); Allemande, 1772-1827, "Sonata D. Minor" third movement, (Ludwig von Beethoven); Romantic school, 1811-1886, "Slumber Song" (Posthumour) (Franz Liszt); "Etudes Op. 25, No. 1 and 9, (Frederick Chopin), 1810-1849.

Modern composers: Russian school, 1834-1887, "Au Convent" (Alexander Borodirie); French school, 1879, "Filleuses de Curvantec" (Rherie Baton), "Prelude E Minor" (1910) (Claude Debussy); English school, 1879, "The Garden of Soul Sympathy" (Cyril Scott), "Sheperd Herz" (Morris Dance) 1893, (Percy Grainger), "The Marionette Shows" and "Hurdy Gurdy" (Eugene Goosens).

American school, 1861-1908, "Perpetual Motion," "Improvisation" and "Wild Rider," "Twelve Virtuoso Etudes, Op. 47" (Edward MacDowell).

Modern composers: "At Dawning" (Charles Wakefield Cadman) 1881; "Juba Dances" (R. Nathaniel Dett), 1882; "Chimes of St. Patrick's" (Emerson Whithorne), 1882; "Theme and Variations" (Edward Royce) 1895.

A nominal admission price will be charged and all proceeds will go to the Mission Play house fund.

Glendale and Los Angeles busses pass the door of the Jack o' Lantern where the recital will take place.

plan, and that is the motorist that cannot read English.

Officer to Check

"In my opinion a foreigner in this unfortunate position should not be allowed to operate a car in this state, but such is not the case. However, he will undoubtedly see other cars slow down and there will be an officer there to check him in case he proceeds past the school faster than the law allows."

The standards, which will be made locally, are already in the course of construction and will be in position in a very few days. It was the opinion of both the city manager and the chief that to stop a car meant congestion of traffic, while if the driver slows down to five miles per hour he would have his car under absolute control, so that if a child darted out into the street from the sidewalk he would be able to stop his machine in time to avoid an accident.

As fast as the signs are completed they will be placed in position at one or two schools, and if the plan proves successful they will be placed in every street bordering schools in Glendale. The plan of having the banner operated by ropes and pulleys was discarded as it was considered that it would be too high and therefore be out of the line of vision of the drivers.

"We wanted something so the driver could not say, 'I didn't see it,'" said Mr. Stone, "and we believe that outside of the illiterate element this plan will meet all requirements."

will be developed with practice.

At each Sunday service this choir will furnish the following numbers at the regular church service: Processional, anthem, solo and recessional.

The members who were present in the picture are George Moore, Paul and Wilfred Light, Robert Keller, Clarence and James Mace, John Koenig, Claude Slate, Robert Whitton, Ennis Olmsted, Lloyd Smith, Glenn Todd and Roger Bush. The other members are Lee Blair and Oscar, Billy and Frank Newby.

Their singing practice has been directed by Miss Gladys Sharpe, organist for the Casa Verdugo Methodist church.

'Better English' Talks At Glendale Avenue

An assembly of special interest was held Tuesday morning at Glendale Avenue school, as a culmination of the special work of the English department during the observance of "Better English" week, which closed last Friday.

Following the week of composition work and speaking in the English classes, the best pupil was chosen from each class, and the winners met Tuesday morning to deliver their speeches before the judges for the affair. All spoke on the subject "Better English."

Classes were represented as follows: B7, Patricia Thrall; A-7-1, Roberta Marshall; A-7-2, Helen Rosenberg; A-7-3, Lila Cook; A-7-4, Grace Jackson; B8-1, Edna Lamb; B-8-2, Helen Wilson; A-8-1, Jean Williams; A-8-2, Dorothy Mitchell; A-8-3, Margaret Huse; A-8-4, Betty Anderson.

First decision went to Roberta Marshall as best speaker of eleven contestants. Helen Rosenberg won first place in the 8th grade and Margaret Huse in the 7th grade.

Miss Avis White, head of the English department, was in charge of the assembly. Miss Caroline Ainsworth, Miss Lorene Fritch and J. F. McMaster were judges.

The preparatory work was done under direction of Miss White, Miss Jennie Dacey, Miss Ruth Williams and Miss Brockett.
